Counter Attack At Bali To Slow Invading Force

Heavy Toll Is Exacted On Japs Landing Troops

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Feb. 20.—(AP)—With invasion today of the Idyllic Island of Bali (and Timor, according to an additional Tokyo claim), Japan's mulitple front offensive in the southwest Pacific took ominous form as a threat to isolate the United Nations forces in Java if not to by-pass that stronghold for a direct attack on Australia.

The waters around Bali, a Dutch colonial paradise war had been little more than a fable of the white men, were threshed by the torpedoes, bombs and shells of warships and warplanes as the United Nations closed in an apparently unsuccessful battle to bar the strong sea-borne invasion force from the bleaming beaches of Bali.

The defenders again were exacting a heavy price for the Japanese attack, but evidently not heavy enough. Japanese landing parties swarmed from their transports and cut through the surf with their landing barges, despite the counter blows of allied air and surface craft and submarines.

The defenders scored direct bomb hits on one or more Japanese cruisers and three transports and eight near misses on a destroyer, according to an early communique of the United Nations. Four Japanese fighters were shot down and the defending air force returned to base intact.

Open Counter Attack

United Nations warships and sumbarines had opened the counter attack last night on the invasion forces concentrated in waters around Bali. The 2,095-square mile island is separated from easternmost Java, at its nearest point by a milewide strait. It is only about 120 miles from Bali to Java's big Soerabaja naval base.

A Dutch communique said succinctly:

"In connection with enemy action directed against Bali, vital points on Bali have been destroyed and naturally strong action is being taken against landings which the enemy is carrying out."

(Imperial headquarters at Tokyo announced that Japanese troops landed at dawn today on the Portuguese-Dutch Island of Timor, east of Bali at the end of the southern chain of Dutch Islands and just northwest of Darwin Australia, which Japanese planes have raided intensively twice yesterday, with a third alarm today.

(Tokyo said that the Timor expedition had been ordered to oust British Imperial and Dutch troops in the Portuguese half of the island. Australian and Dutch forces had taken positions in Timor early in the war in anticipation of Japanese attack. Tokyo sought to assure Portugal that the Japanese would be withdrawn when (and if) the United Nations troops were expelled.

(Summarizing results of their assault yesterday on Darwin, the Japanese declared that a 6,000-ton Australian auxiliary cruiser, two destroyers, a sub-chaser and nine transports were destroyed and, in

Military Areas To Be Set Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has authorized and directed the secretary of war to set up military areas in the country from which any persons, either alien or citizen, may be barred or removed.

The executive order of the President mentioned no specific areas, but it was no secret that this action was directed to a large extent toward citizens of Japanese extraction whose presence at certain strategic points might be deemed inimicable to the war effort.

Officials said that the order did not constitute application of martial law, but it appeared to be only a step short of it.

Of course, the executive order would apply to citizens of German and Italian descent as well, and for that matter, to native-born Americans of any ancestry.

The executive order, signed by the President yesterday and withheld until today at the request of the war department, directs the secretary of war and military commanders he may designate to "prescribe military areas in such places and of such extent as he or the appropriate military commander may determine, from which any and all persons may be excluded, and with respect to which, the right to any person to enter, remain in, or leave shall be subject to whatever restrictions" the secretary or commander may impose.

Calls For Sacrifice

Stinging Blast At Critics Of The Midwest

Ratner Aroused By Speech of Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear

TOPEKA, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Gov. Payne Ratner, incensed at a speech by Lieut.-Gen. Ben Lear of Memphis, directed a stinging blast today at critics who contend people of the middle west are smug and complacent in the war effort.

Kansans "are uncomplainingly sending their sons to war in great numbers both as volunteers and selectees," declared the governor in a statement.

"Many of them already have died for their country, and they didn't die yelling yoo-hoo at girls, either. Many of them died because some of the naval and military leaders were so smug they were surprised at Pearl Harbor."

The executive insisted that "the people of Kansas are fully awake to our peril. They are vigilant, alert and intensely patriotic."

Ratner Makes Queries

General Lear spoke last night before a Kansas City University Club forum, calling on citizens to "give without stint of their efforts just as the soldier may be called upon to give his life."

Ratner asked "what does General Lear want us to do? Form parades around the county court house every morning, or what?

"General Lear's charge that the people are smug reminds me of the pot calling the kettle black.

"Was it smugness or worse:

"When General Lear severely disciplined young soldiers for yelling yoo-hoo at girls in shorts on a golf course, when the general was on the same golf course?

"When in the midst of our nation's great travail, congress took time out to vote itself, the President and members of his cabinet pensions?

"When large sums of money which could have been used to build tanks and air planes were spent for dancers, glamour boys and parasites.

"That made possible the serious fire damage to the Normandie after a maritime officer had been warned of the gross negligence surrounding the conversion of the ship for war purposes?"

This is no time for Americans to indulge in "idle, useless and destructive criticism of each other," he added.

Battle On All Sections Of the Bataan Front

Japanese Drop Incendiary Bombs Behind Lines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—The war department reported today that fighting from fixed positions continues on all sections of the front in Bataan, and that enemy airplanes have dropped a number of incendiary bombs on installations behind the defending lines.

The text of the communique, number 116, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., Eastern War Time:

"1. Philippine theater:

"Positional fighting continues on all sections of the front in Bataan. Enemy airplanes dropped a number of incendiary bombs on installations behind our lines. An examination of these bombs discloses that the Japanese are using white phosphorus as an incendiary filler.

"General MacArthur, in behalf of his troops, has acknowledged with appreciation the cordial greeting transmitted to him by 60,000 arsenal employes of the ordnance department of the army in the United States.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

War department officials said that white phosphorus ignites easily, having a kindling point of 44 degrees centrigrade, but could be extinguished quite easily with water. In laboratory use, they explained, it is stored under water to prevent accidental fire. In burning, it throws off a defense white smoke, and this property has resulted in its widespread use for smoke screens.

Officials said that so far as they know, the material has not been used for incendiary bombs in Europe.

Defense Stamps On Dance Tickets

A new and patriotic idea is being featured by the local American Legion post in its sale of tickets to the George Washington dance, which is being sponsored by the post next Monday night at Liberty park.

A twenty-five cent defense stamp has been attached to each fifty cent ticket to the dance, thus giving the purchaser a boost in his defense stamp collection. Although each ticket actually sells for fifty cents, the purchaser pays only twenty-five cents for the dance, since he retains the twenty-five cent defense stamp on his ticket for his own savings.

The entire proceeds of the dance go to the United States general war fund, since the stamp on each ticket contributes to it automatically, and the remainder of the receipts will be turned over to the local chapter of the American Red Cross for the purchase of supplies for soldiers.

Sound equipment has been contributed for use during the evening, in order that those attending the dance may hear a talk by President Roosevelt. Music will be furnished by the Sedalia local musicians union 22.

In charge of arrangements for the dance which starts at 8:30 o'clock are Elmer Winfrey, Linden L. Jones and Ray Matthews.

Changes Made In Officers Of Elks

Dr. Hardin Gouge, who held the office of Esquire in Sedalia Lodge No. 125 B. P. O. Elks the past year, was unanimously elected to the chair office of Esteemed Lecturing Knight at the regular lodge meeting. He succeeds Edw. Rippey, Jr., who resigned because his work kept him away from the city frequently.

Virgil Corson was appointed to succeed to the Esquire's position, and Tom F. Walch was named Inner Guard.

The regular story hour will be held at the Library at 10 o'clock Saturday for the children in Sedalia.

Old Men In F. D. R. Cabinet Should Form Policy Board

WASHINGTON—In 1937 Franklin Roosevelt raised one of the most controversial issues of his nine years in office—the contention that older men were not qualified to serve on the Supreme Court of the United States.

That issue precipitated weeks of Congressional debate and literally tore the country apart. It split the Democratic party, and some of the wounds from that battle still have not healed.

During the Supreme Court fight, the authors of this column published a book called "The Nine Old Men" which made it quite clear that for better or for worse we concurred with the President that older justices should give way to younger men, just as army and navy officers are required to retire after reaching the age of 64.

And having sided vigorously with Roosevelt in the Supreme Court fight we cannot be accused of inconsistency when we state that we think it is equally prejudicial to the public good for older men to retain important cabinet positions—especially in time of war.

A Supreme Court justice has vitally important decisions

Mrs. Roosevelt Quits OCD Post

Commended By Director Landis For Her Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt today resigned her post as assistant director of the office of civilian defense.

James M. Landis, director, accepted the resignation in a letter voicing gratitude for her "vision and energy," but saying he could not ask her to continue "to give so greatly of your time and your gallantry."

For Maximum Service

Mrs. Roosevelt recently made known her intention to resign as soon as her division was functioning efficiently.

"That is now accomplished," her letter of resignation to Landis said, "and by remaining I would only make it possible for those who wish to attack me, because of my beliefs, to attack an agency which I consider can prove its usefulness so completely to the people, that it should be free of attack, in order to render its maximum service.

"No individual is more important than a good program. I feel that your's is and will be a program vital to the well being of the people of the country."

The first lady was appointed to OCD last September by former director, F. H. La Guardia, and OCD officials said that she contributed "more than half" of her time to the agency. She was in full charge of community activities and volunteer workers.

Both her letter and that of Landis made reference to the recent outburst of criticism at COD, which resulted Wednesday in the resignation of Mrs. Roosevelt's protege, blonde dancer Mayris Chaney. Miss Chaney resigned her $4,600 position in the children's unit. Landis' office accepted her withdrawal with "no comment."

"I need not tell you, what the world knows," Landis' letter to Mrs. Roosevelt declared, "that you brought to the Office of Civilian Defense the vision and energy to carry out those portions of the executive order that directed us to mobilize the energy of everybody behind the defense, now the war, effort.

"Not a farm nor a home but is now conscious of the imprint of your spirit; indeed, no one but now knows that they have a task in civilian defense. This has been true building of Americas fighting faiths beside which criticism is puny, attack misplaced."

Mrs. Roosevelt's resignation was made effective today.

Landis said he had "been aware for some time," of Mrs. Roosevelt's wish to quit active participation in the OCD.

Well Drillers In Convention

Geologist Gives An Address In The Opening Session

The Missouri Water Well Drillers Association is holding its annual convention, at Hotel Bothwell, this city. It opened this morning for a two days session, with M. J. White, Lee's Summit, president, presiding. R. A. Foster, of Harrisonville, is the secretary.

Twenty-five men, engaged in that business, had registered at noon today, and at least ten more are expected to be here this evening to attend the night entertainment session, and to remain through Saturday.

Charles Van Dyne, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, gave a brief address of welcome this morning, telling the delegates to make themselves at home in the city, and to enjoy the hospitality which Sedalians are glad to extend to them.

There was a short business session, during which the auditing and nominating committees were appointed. Leonard Koevel, of Chesterfield is chairman of the nominating committee.

The first speaker today was L. E. Ordelhiede, Jefferson City, assistant public health engineer, whose subject was, "Are Your Wells Contaminated?"

Geologist In Address

He was followed on the program by H. A. Beuhler, Chief Geologist of Missouri, whose talk on the work of his department, in connection with the well drillers was followed by a number of questions and an interesting discussion.

S. E. Shoup, a specialist on the priorities subject, was to have been on the program today, but was called to another city, and his talk will be given in the morning. It will be one of the outstanding talks of the convention, because Mr. Shoup will tell what the drillers may buy, under the priorities rulings, and what they may not buy.

This evening the men will turn their attention from the business affairs, and will have an evening

Appreciation On Defense Fund

A letter of appreciation from Dan M. Nee, Collector of Internal Revenue for the western part of Missouri, for $200 given the government, raised by a concert by the Smith-Cotton high school band has been received by Frank T. Armstrong, president of the Band Parents' club. It reads as follows:

"February 18th, 1942.

"Hon. Frank T. Armstrong,
President, Band Parents' Club,
Sedalia, Missouri.

"Dear Frank:

"I am enclosing Collector's official receipt for the payment of the $200.00 which was so generously and patriotically contributed to the payment of the cost of our National Defense by the Band Parents Club of Sedalia,, Mo.

"Again I want to thank you and through you, the members of these two splendid organizations, for their patriotic attitude in holding the concert and contributing the proceeds to our National Defense. It was certainly a splendid manifestation of patriotism and I hope will be emulated by many school bands throughout the country.

"With kindest personal regards,

"Sincerely yours,
"Dan M. Nee, Collector."

Day Of Prayer Being Observed

Submarines Of Nazis Become More Active

Major Offensive From The Azores To Greenland

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Germany has launched a major submarine offensive in the North Atlantic from the Azores to Greenland, to cooperate with Japan by keeping United States naval units in the Atlantic and preventing reinforcement of the U. S. Pacific fleet, informed British sources said today.

These sources declared that, according to information from the continent, the Nazis had 34 U-boats at sea in the North Atlantic early in February. This probably means, they added, that actually there were three times that many operating in this area at that time."

Japanese demands for naval cooperation were said to have been made at an Axis conference in Bavaria early in January. Vice-Admiral Karl Doenitz, in command of the U-boat fleet, was said to have told them he would use "pack tactics" on the sea lanes near Europe while his largest submarines and best crews would range the North American coast.

Original opening date for the campaign, according to these reports, was April 1. Instead, renewed Japanese urging led the Nazis to open their campaign two months ahead of schedule, the sources added.

Adolf Hitler was said to have given Doenitz the same latitude which the Kaiser gave Admiral von Tirpitz in the spring of 1917, when the Germans announced the opening of unrestricted submarine warfare.

German U-boat building was said to have been stepped up this winter at inland factories, from which the ships then were shipped to Bremen and Kiel to get their "blood baptism" in minor operations off the coast.

Try To Cripple Fleet

The attacks on Allied tankers moving out of Aruba in the Dutch West Indies and along the eastern coast of the United States were seen as designed to cripple the world's dwindling tanker fleet.

But British sources predicted that the Germans, after three months of the heaviest U-boat offensive that ever has been seen, might gamble on sending one of their larger warships into the Caribbean to attempt a knockout blow at Aruba and its refineries By then, according to this plan, the submarines already would have forced the Allies to disperse their heavier surface ships and such an operation might be executed successfully.

The informants said that among the submarine commanders operating in the Western Atlantic are captain Hardegen, directing operations of a flotilla off the coasts of the United States, and Captain Von Tiesenhausen, credited with the sinking of the Barham in the Mediterranean last November.

The flotilla headed by Hardegen, one of the most publicized U-boat officers in Germany since the death of Guenther Prien, was credited in a recent Berlin communique with the sinking of eight ships, "including three tankers in the immediate vicinity of New York harbor."

Olin Klein of near Smithton has a collection of 75 automobile license plates which he will bring to Sedalia and place in the container on the court house lawn, and with others they will be sold and the proceeds used for the Civilian Defense program.

One of the plates is for 1919, and at that time the license used on a Dodge car, cost $20.

Freighter Sunk Off Coast By An Axis 'Sub'

'Crash Dive' By Attacking Craft As Planes Appear

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 20—(AP)—The 4,080-ton Brazilian freighter, Olinda, was sunk by an Axis submarine, described as "pocket size" off the Atlantic coast Wednesday afternoon, and crew members, two of whom were taken aboard the submersible for questioning, said the submarine "crash-dived" later at the approach of the U. S. naval planes.

The fifth naval district authorized release of details of the sinking after the entire crew of 46 was picked up from two life boats by a rescue ship and landed here. The men were rescued after drifting and rowing for 20 hours. Navy officials withheld any further detail concerning the operations of the U. S. planes.

Francisco Nogueira, of Sao Paolo, Brazil, said that he and Captain Jacob Benemond, were ordered aboard the submarine by its commander and were questioned concerning the nature of their cargo, where they were from and their destination.

Fired Numerous Shells

The submarine, which fired "seventeen or eighteen shells — more or less" at the ship before the crew abandoned her, sent a torpedo into the Olinda about amidships after the crew had taken to the boats, Nogueira said, adding that the freighter went down about an hour and a half later.

Nogueira said the undersea raider was "small enough to put

Total Of $961.37 To Aid Disabled

The total sum of $961.37 was realized in Pettis county in the recent Infantile Paralysis fund campaign, according to Ernest C. Martin, general chairman in charge. The drive is an annual one, started by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in observance of his birthday anniversary. The above amount is the sum after all campaign expenses had been paid.

Mr. Martin will send one-half of the amount to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, the other half remains in Pettis county to be used for infantile paralysis victims here.

There will be one complete delivery of mail in the business and residential district Monday, and all windows in the postoffice will be open until noon, Edward P. Mullaley, postmaster, said today, after receiving instructions to that effect from Washington, D. C. There will be no rural delivery.

Announcement had previously been made, and published, that the day would be a holiday, but that order was cancelled, with the new instructions received this morning.

Public Offices To Be Closed On Monday

The offices in the court house and the city hall will be closed all day Monday, in observance of the birthday of George Washington, which is Sunday, the 22nd.

American 'Sub' Sinks A Cargo Ship Of Enemy

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Three influential senators demanded today that adequate provisions be made for defense of American coastlines.

Senators Walsh (D-Mass), Byrd (D-Va) and Johnson (R-Calif)) urged this protection despite an assertion by Secretary of War Stimson that disperal of forces to halt enemy coastal raids might retard offensives elsewhere.

A concrete indication that such offensives might develop sooner than generally expected was contained in the latest advices from the Netherlands East Indies.

The army said last night that a formation of 16 American P-40 pursuit planes intercepted 25 heavy Japanese bombers and two fighter planes which flew over Soerabaja, Java, and destroyed five bombers and one fighter. One American plane was shot down but the pilot was saved.

Report Cargo Ship Sunk

This was the first report of a considerable American fighter force—of squadron strength—being in action over Java. It was accompanied by a navy statement that an American submarine had sunk a 5,000-ton cargo ship in the East China sea.

But the enemy likewise had news of submarine forays in the Caribbean. New U-boat attacks damaged two ships off Trinidad. However, U-boats failed to set fire to the huge oil refineries on Aruba in another raid and the submarine attacking that Dutch oil port may have been sunk by U. S. bombers.

Walsh, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, told reporters that while nothing should be done to interfere with far-reaching military strategy, "inadequate" coast defenses ought to be strengthened rapidly.

Byrd said he felt that the American people ought to be defended from attack to the extent that is necessary, although he was willing to leave the disposition of forces up to the military departments.

Secretary Stimson told a press conference yesterday this coun-

Institute On Girl Scouting

A one-day institute on Girl Scout volunteers and their part in the national defense effort will be held in Sedalia on February 28, it was announced today by Mrs. Harold Dean, regional committee member. The institute sessions, which will begin at 10 a. m. and last through the afternoon, will be held at the Elks club.

"The purpose of the institute is three-fold," said Mrs. Dean. "It is to indicate just what the defense needs and efforts are and to determine the sources for further information, local and national; to indicate what Girl Scouting has that is needed right now in the national defense, and finally, to show how adults jobs in Girl Scouting are being affected by current conditions and to give direction to their work."

"We expect these three results: a re-emphasizing conviction that Girl Scouting is defense and that the organization as a whole, girl and adults, has as definite a contribution to make to a country at war as it always has made in times of peace; a knowledge of the specific jobs that we can do, locally and nationally, and a desire and determination not only to do these specific jobs ourselves but to go out and put the idea of service across to others in the community."

Ellsworth Green and Mrs. Landon Welch will make the principal addresses at the morning session. Representatives from various clubs in Sedalia have been invited and anyone interested in civilian defense and youth activities are urged to attend the morning meeting.

Glorify Gallantry And Bravery Of U. S. Troops

(By Clark Lee)

WITH THE 31st INFANTRY in the Field on Bataan Peninsula, Feb. 19—(Delayed)—(AP)— Here's a part of the history of "America's Foreign Legion"—the 31st United States infantry—and its heroic nine-day battle against the Imperial Japanese army at Abuay Hacienda in the Bataan area.

It's a story that glorifies the already sound reputation of this regiment of diverse racial background and equally varied service record. It tells of new deeds of gallantry by oldtimers, veterans of many an Asiatic station, who have been with the outfit since it was organized at Manila August 13, 1916.

It recognizes the spirited conduct of the regiment's younger men, recruits brought from the United States every two years to keep the ranks at fighting strength.

General MacArthur will say that but for the 31st's grim fight at Abucay, the Japanese might well have split the Bataan defenders before they could assume the strong positions they now hold.

The Hacienda battle proved also the first time that American soldiers can outfight Japanese—but it was costly proof. The 31st regimental roster is studded with the names of dead, wounded and missing, as well as those of living heroes.

Although, along with the rest of MacArthur's army, the 31st had had its share of aerial bombing daily from December 8 on, first actual contact with the Japanese came early in January near Layac Junction, while the Usaffe was still withdrawing into prepared positions on Bataan.

Charge With Bayonets

After strong artillery preparation, large forces of Japanese infantry drove against Philippine units on the night of December 31.

Lieut. Col. Jasper Brady of Seattle, Wash., gave his third battalion a crisp command: "Fix bayonets and attack with a rush."

The battalion rose from positions behind an irrigation wall in a rice paddy and charged across the try could expect attacks "all along our coasts and other places" similar to the axis submarine forays on Aruba Island in the Dutch West Indies.

He said it was likely that "pressure" would be exerted by "thoughtless persons" to scatter American forces to meet such attacks.

Johnson commented that it was "all nonsense" to talk about bringing pressure when he and others of views have been demanding only that adequate protection be given to American areas.

Eager For Revenge

By CHANDLER DIEHL

ST. NICHOLAS, Aruba, Dutch West Indies, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Revenge was the principal thought of this oil-important little island today after its inhabitants—United States as well as Dutch soldiers among them—had experienced the second U-boat bombardment in four days.

Coincident with a new outbreak of torpedo attacks on oil tankers in these vital waters off the northern Venezuelan coast, an enemy submarine sent shells hurtling into the area of the great oil refinery here at dawn yesterday.

United States bombers already were aloft patrolling, and unloaded explosives so quickly that one pilot was confident the U-boat had been damaged.

The submarine's shells hit only unessential targets, without exploding, and Aruba's two great refineries—one of them reputed to be the world's largest—was untouched.

Off the island, however, and within 700 miles of the Panama Canal, a tanker flying the flag of Panama was torpedoed and two ships at anchor in the Gulf of Paria, off Port of Spain, Trinidad, were damaged Wednesday night by explosions presumably caused by U-boat attacks. The two vessels remained afloat.

These raised to 10 the toll of shipping in these southern Caribbean waters. Seven tankers were sunk or damaged Monday off this island and Curacao.

Besides the soldiers guardian Aruba, its civilians — most of whom operate the great refineries —are eager for a chance to avenge the 50 or so fellow workers who are dead or missing in the raids on the little, shallow-draft tankers carrying oil from Venezuela.

United States army officers say their forces are "loaded for bear" and keen for action.

The ground troops were newly-arrived but the first attack Monday did not catch them unprepared. Despite their new surroundings and the swiftly-enforced blackout, the men won their officers' praise and confidence for their speed in getting armed and to their stations.

Two Executed At Sing Sing

OSINING, N. Y., Feb. 20—(AP)—A double execution at Sing Sing prison shortly after midnight sent two more members of Brooklyn's infamous Murder, Inc., gang to their deaths.

Frank (The Dasher) Abbandando, 33, and Harry (Happy) Maione, 32 died within a few minutes of each other after being twice tried—the first conviction was reversed—and twice sentenced to death.

They were convicted of the slaying in 1937 of George Rudnick, a Brooklyn stool pigeon, whose talk they silenced with 54 ice pick jabs.

Although they were the first convicted members of Brooklyn's notorious kill-for-cash ring, they were the second pair to die. The chair got Harry (Pittsburgh Phil) Strauss and Martin (Buggsy) Goldstein while The Dasher and Happy were being retried and resentenced after their first conviction had been set aside.

The Dasher didn't even try to live up to his underworld nickname as he entered the death chamber on the stroke of midnight. Head bowed, he went to the chair in silence.

Six minutes after The Dasher's death at 12:04 a. m. EWT, Happy joined him.

Prison Term To Laura Ingalls

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Justice James W. Morris today sentenced Laura Ingalls, one-time noted aviatrix, to eight months to two years in prison for failing to register as a paid agent of the German Reich.

Miss Ingalls made a brief, dramatic statement to the court before the sentence was imposed, repeating the contention she made before and during the trial that in accepting money from German embassy officials to make isolationist speeches over the country she was acting as a self-appointed counter espionage agent for the United States.

Justice Morris told her that she must know that her sentence was not for any mental conviction she may have had but because she had violated a law.

The maximum sentence which could have been imposed was two years in prison and a $1,000 fine. Miss Ingalls was convicted on February 13.

in my pocket." The submersible had one deck gun and two machine guns.

Nogueira was unable to say what the caliber of the deck gun was.

Crew members said that U. S. naval planes were sighted approaching while the submarine was still on the surface and the submersible immediately crash-dived.

When the submarine first appeared Wednesday afternoon, Radio Operator Nogueira said the submersible fired a number of shells across the bow and over the ship. The sub was two miles away at the time. The first shell, he said carried away the radio antenna rendering impossible the sending of distress signals. More shells followed and the captain gave the order to abandon ship.

Off In Lifeboats

The crew left the ship on two lifeboats and pulled away. Officers on the sub's deck commanded the two boats to approach and as the lifeboats drew near the commander, speaking in English, Spanish and Portuguese, ordered the captain and the radio operator to come aboard.

Noguiera boarded the submarine first and was questioned "between six and ten minutes." He was treated courteously, the radio operator said, and "they took my picture once." The sub's crew also took pictures of the Olinda's two lifeboats.

When Noguiera returned to his lifeboat, Captain Benemond then boarded the submarine and stayed about ten minutes. The sub commander asked him for his ship's papers but Benemond told him the papers were aboard the ship.

Benemond returned to his lifeboat and the submarine then torpedoed the freighter.

The Olinda listed heavily, turned over on her side and went to the bottom about an hour and a half after the crew entered the life boats.

The Olinda was out of Bahia for New York with a cargo of cocoa and castor beans.

Pedro Lama, fireman, of Belem, who was in the boiler room when the attack began, told newsmen that fire broke out during the shelling in the ship's No. 3 hold and in the engine room.

No other information about the sinking was disclosed by the department.

Trial In War Guilt Proceeds

RIOM, Unoccupied France, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Five former leaders of the old French third republic, charged with guilt in France's war defeat, came back early this afternoon for a second day of their hearing before the scarlet and ermine robed supreme court which the defendants contend is unconstitutional.

After hearing an outburst in which the defendants argued yesterday that they had been prejudged and condemned illegally before the trial, the court announced it would rule soon on their contention that under French law they could be indicted only by the chamber of deputies and tried only by the senate.

Firm and defiant, former Premier Leon Blum touched off the outburst by asking the court to declare itself—and by implication the whole regime of Chief of State Petain—unconstitutional.

Edouard Daladier, also a former premier, declared the trial never would have taken place if the Germans had not insisted.

Warned by the president of the court against mentioning foreign powers, Daladier replied:

"Don't I have the right to present my side of the case after having been in prison 17 months, and made a scapegoat of defeat without the right to defend myself because the press, radio and the chief of state himself are leagued against me?

"We shall see where treason lay and by when France was betrayed."

The other defendants are Gen. Maurice Gamelin, who declined to present a defense; former Air Minister Guy La Chambre, and Pierre Jacomet, former administrator of national defense industries.

Held Charged With Tire Theft

Roosevelt Carpenter and Quincy Wright, Negroes, charged with taking a tire, tube and wheel, from the McGrath-Thompson farm, last Friday night, have been bound over in the justice court of J. M. Connor to the April term of criminal court. The charge against them is grand larceny, and the value of the property allegedly stolen is $50.

In default of bond of $1,000 each the Negroes are held in the county jail.

Counter Attack At Bali To Slow Invading Force

addition, that another destroyer was heavily damaged. The Japanese also claimed destruction of 26 planes along with military and naval establishments.

(The Australians have acknowledged considerable damage to ships, buildings and airdromes, along with casualties of 15 dead and 24 wounded. Six of the 93 Japanese fighters and bombers which delivered the third raid yesterday in two waves were shot down and the bombing accuracy of the others were impaired.)

Strike At Airfields

The Dutch news agency, Aneta, said that "the pressure of the Japanese warcraft and troopships of Bali may indicate the expected enemy attempt to invade Java."

If it was not that, or at least a feint to facilitate attack in another quarter, it suggested (especially in conjunction with the Timor operations) a bold attempt to outflank Java for an invasion lunge at northern Australia, centering perhaps on Darwin, naval base-capital of Australia's northern territory.

Coinciding with the heavy raids on Darwin, the Japanese struck at Java's naval base and air fields. Ten Japanese planes—five bombers and five fighters—were shot down during Wednesday's and yesterday's raids at Soerabaja, it was announced by the United Nations headquarters for the southwest Pacific which is situated somewhere in Java.

Expeditionary forces of the United Nations including American and Australian troops, have moved to battle stations in that rich central island of the N. E. I.

Use Native Costumes

By DANIEL DELUCE

ON THE BILIN RIVER FRONT, Burma, Feb. 18.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Japanese forces now engaged by the British in the offensive along the lower Bilin river are using bicycle scouts dressed in native Burmese costumes, the British asserted today. (Similar reports came from the British during the Japanese drive through Malaya.)

First accounts from British officers and men who fought near Buyinzeik, across the Salween river west of Paan, before it was evacuated early last Sunday also described how the enemy fired tracer bullets at night trying to make the defenders reveal their positions.

The Japanese, dressed in khaki and wearing peaked caps, concentrated in detachments of 200 to 1,000 and advanced only at night, following jungle trails or keeping close in the cover of wooded hills. Occasionally they were guided by Burmese natives, it was alleged.

British Forces Intact

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—British positions along the Bilin river in Burma, some 80 miles northeast of Rangoon, are intact after 24 hours of fierce attacks and counter attacks, a British military commentator declared today.

Losses by both sides were described as heavy.

Attempt To Hold Line

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 20.—(AP)—British and Indian defense forces are counter-attacking repeatedly in attempts to hold their hard-pressed line on the west bank of the Bilin river, an army communique declared today.

The war bullein said "fierce fighting has continued during the past 24 hours behind the Bilin river."

Reach Sittang River

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—Feb. 20—(AP)— Japanese forces advancing across the Bilin river have reached the Sittang river, the final natural barrier before Rangoon, a German dispatch from Shanghai said tonight.

(The Tokyo radio has not made this claim; the Berlin radio sometimes reports Japanese successes greater than Tokyo's own claims. The Sittang river is only 20 miles east of the railway north from Rangoon which feeds the Burma road.)

McDaniel Is Safe At Batavia

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Feb. 20—(AP)—C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press correspondent, who was the last American newspaperman to leave Singapore, arrived in Batavia this morning after a hazardous week-long trip in which his ship was bombed and sunk shortly after it sailed from the British base.

He reached Batavia on a British warship after having travelled by lifeboat and native junk, treked through the interior of northern Sumatra, and finally established contact with Dutch troops which in turn led the party to British forces stationed in north Sumatra. The rest of the journey was made aboard the warship.

of entertainment. A Dutch lunch will be served in the Ambassador room of Hotel Bothwell, followed by a floor show, presented by a troup coming to the city from Kansas City for the affair.

Saturday numerous problems, with which the drillers find themselves confronted will be discussed, reports will be given and officers elected.

As a surprise every member is going to receive a gift—$1.00 worth of Defense Stamps in a stamp book. The organization, which was formed in February, 1932, has accumulated a little money in its general fund, and it is with this money the stamps will be bought as gifts.

The object of this association, as set forth in its code of ethics, is to bring about better conditions in the well drilling industry through (1) a better understanding of the occurrence, quality and quantity of underground water; (2) better knowledge of the work of drilling, casing and finishing tween drillers and their employ-wells; (3) a better relation beers and between the drillers themselves; (4) a better income through steady work and greater success in securing an abundance of good water and satisfied customers.

Friction On Sales Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—A retail sales tax proposal seemed likely to bob up today as a source of friction between legislative and treasury fiscal experts, otherwise reported agreed on the general principles of a new seven billion dollar revenue raising program.

Treasury experts were reported to have suggested, instead that stiff increases be made in exice taxes on certain selected products and that the number of these products be widened greatly. There was said to have been some discussion of a possible tax of 5 cents a pound on coffee.

To collect a sales tax, the treasury representatives were said to have argued, would require the formation of a new large bureau at a time when there was doubt that the necessary personnel could be obtained.

Legislators Are On Payrolls

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 0.—(AP)—Five Democratic legislators and a Kansas City justice of the peace—three with names misspelled—appeared in the new Blue Book today as employes of State Auditor Forrest Smith with salaries ranging from $1,500 to $2,100 a year.

Two legislators are working for Secretary of State Dwight Brown.

The state auditor's payroll listed these men as sales tax inspectors:

H. C. Crist, Springfield, $2,100; Joe Lightner, Odessa, $2,100; Bob Searcy of Eminence, E. B. Conroth of Ewing and M. K. Asosky, Kansas City, $1,800 each; and J. S. Wallace of Sikeston, $1,500.

Lightner is a state senator. Crist and Wallace are house members from Greene and Scott counties. W. A. Holloway, Smith's chief clerk, said Searcy and "Conroth" in the blue book listing were state representatives R. E. Searcy of Shannon county and F. B. Conrath of Lewis county.

G. H. Bates, sales tax supervisor, identified "Asosky" as Max Asotsky, former member of the legislature and now a justice of the peace in Kansas City.

Holloway said some of the legislators had been employed since the close of the last session. Others were on the payroll previously, he said, but were dropped during the session.

O. P. Sutton, Wayne county representative, was listed as an $1,800 employe of the secretary of State, Sutton is house speaker pro tem. Rep. Roscoe Summers of Cass county also is an employe in that department. His salary was not listed.

Russia In Call For Canned Meats

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—Russia is asking the United States for considerable quantities of canned meats, animal fats, vegetable oils, butter and other concentrated foods in addition to the wheat, flour and sugar it already is receiving.

Agriculture department officials in charge of lend-lease food purchases for this country's allies said foods other than those staples would be furnished the Soviet Union, but that ocean shipping would be perhaps the controlling factor of determining the amount.

Give Picture Of World At War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—The address President Roosevelt will make to the nation Monday night, the White House said today may touch on strategy but probably will be directed principally to the presentation of a picture of a world at war, as Mr. Roosevelt sees it.

The president's press secretary, Stephen Early, told reporters today:

"I think when he has finished the speech it will be made very clear that the oceans on each of our coast lines are no longer the saviors or the protection of the country they were said to be by some not so long ago.

"Also I think that it will show that military actions and naval engagements wherever they are fought thousands of miles from here, have a definite effect on each little community, on each man in a workshop, on the production lines."

The president cancelled his press conference today because he still had a head cold, Early said the chief executive had planned to ask the press and radio to say:

"If the people of the United States will be good enough to open their doors and let him in to talk to them, he hoped they would have a map of the world or a world globe before them so they in that way might more clearly and better understand as he talks with them."

Asked whether this meant that Mr. Roosevelt, in general terms, would discuss world strategy or operations, Early then replied that he believed the address would be devoted chiefly to painting a picture of a world at war.

Sacrifice To Save A Ship

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Under the heading "This Was Their Sacrifice" the Evening Standard published today the story of a destroyer which sailed into the path of a U boat's torpedo in order to save a troopship bringing hundreds of RAF pilots, observers and navigators to Britain from Canada.

The destroyer and all but seven of her crew of more than 100 were lost. But the troopship with her valuable cargo of airmen, each of whom had had at least a year's flying in British and United States army school and in Canada, arrived safely into a Scottish port.

Uncover Cache Of Narcotics

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Disclosure of a narcotics syndicate which had prepared for extensive operations in the middle west was expected by United States District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan today as he planned to place his investigation with the current federal grand jury.

Discovery yesterday by federal agents of a $40,000 cache of heroin revealed the core of a widespread narcotics ring, Milligan said.

Retail value of the narcotics uncovered here is $250,000, the largest seizure of its kind on record in Kansas City.

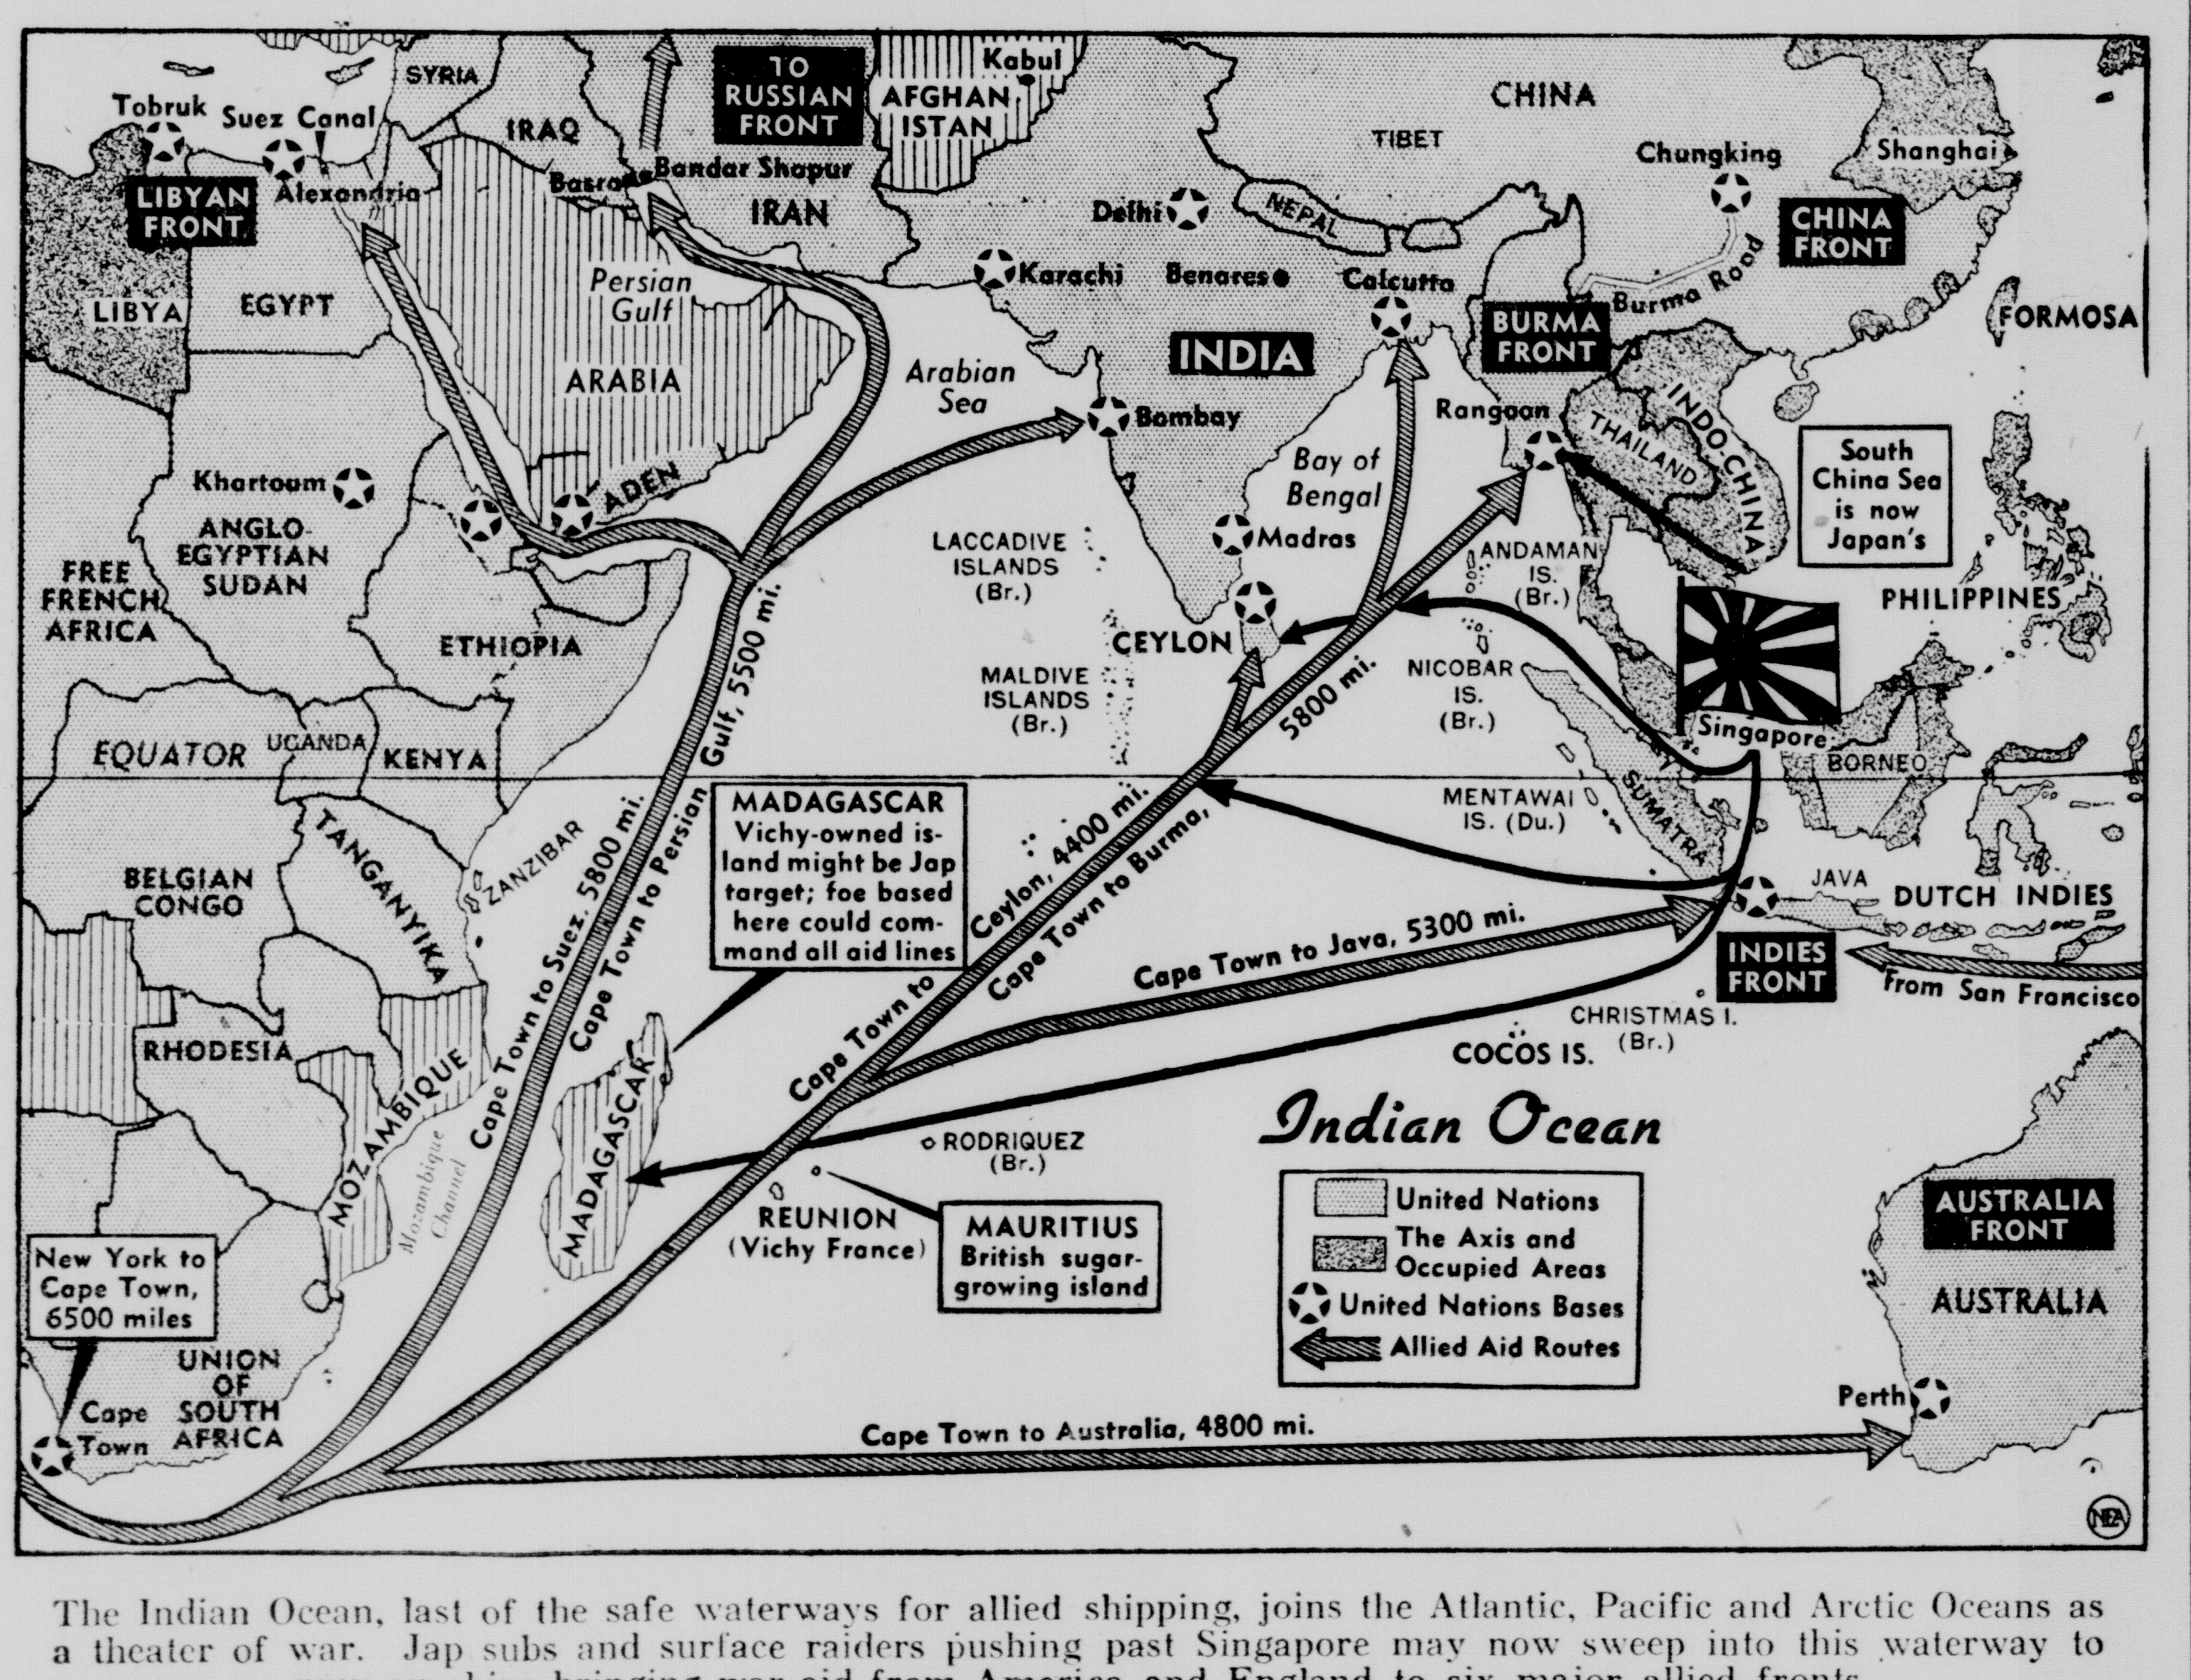
INDIAN OCEAN: WAR SWEEPS INTO A FOURTH GREAT WATERWAY



The Indian Ocean, last of the safe waterways for allied shipping, joins the Atlantic, Pacific and Arctic Oceans as a theater of war. Jap subs and surface raiders pushing past Singapore may now sweep into this waterway to prey on ships bringing war aid from America and England to six major allied fronts.

Nazi Boats In Attack Are Sunk

LONDON, Feb. 20.—(AP)— The British admiralty and air ministry announced today that enemy speedboats and planes were destroyed and others damaged when they staged an unsuccessful attack on a British convoy last night.

Two Nazi E-boats were sunk in the all night battle.

No casualties or damage was inflicted on the merchant ships in the convoy, or their warship escort or on British planes, a communique reported.

British fighter planes protecting the convoy were credited with destroying one enemy bomber and damaging four others out of a force of six. The participation of fighters indicated the action occurred close to the British coast.

Earlier the E-boats—fast motor torpedo boats—made the first surface attack, before midnight, but were sighted by the British destroyer Holderness and promptly turned away under a smoke-screen.

Later the Holderness was said to have engaged two more E-boats. Firing at close range, the destroyer hit one and destroyed it with her first salvo.

Outlays For War At Enormous Sum

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—The war production board said today that authorized outlays for war, plus war funds requested of congress totalled an estimated $145,000,000,000.

The sum was only slightly under the total national income for 1939 and 1940 combined, estimated at $146,709,000,000.

Few Stocks Move To Higher Ground

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The stock market worked on a starvation diet today and, while numerous issues lacked even a semblance of recovery strength, scattered motors, rails and specialties managed to reach higher ground.

Uneven tendencies prevailed at the start and the direction remained foggy at the close. Gains ranged from fractions to a point for favorites. Declines were narrow for the most part, although a few wider setbacks were in evidence.

Transfers of around 350,000 shares were among the smallest since last June.

Wall Street hunted unsuccessfully for something outstandingly bullish in the war news and, with Japanese thrusts continuing in the southwest Pacific, and MacArthur's position in the Philippines becoming more hazardous, customers with buying incinations inclined to step lightly. A little bidding here and there was credited to another batch of good industrial and railway income compilations and the belief that an oversold condition existed in several share departments.

Predicts Fall For Australia

OMAHA, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Hew Roberts, Australian member of the RAF Reserve, predicted last night that Australia will fall in two months and an invasion of the United States may be attempted this summer.

"The great difficulty of the midwest American is to get over the feeling of complacency which results from an inadequate knowledge of economic geography," Dr. Roberts told an American Association of University Women's group.

Pointing to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, he declared the American government seems to be making the same mistake of the English in not delegating military authority to the most vigorous soldiers. He advocated a bigger job for MacArthur than defending a fortress "which must inevitably fall if assistance from the outside cannot reach it."

He is former director of adult education at the University of West Australia in Perth and now on leave as assistant professor of eduction at the University of Iowa.

More Deaths By Accidents

CHICAGO, Feb. 20—(AP)—Occupational accident deaths, which rose 8 per cent and cost millions in 1941, continued upward during January in reports to 23 state compensation commissions. The national safety council announced the figures today.

The council's preliminary estimate for all occupational accident deaths in all states during 1941 is approximately 18,000, a 6 per cent increase over 1940. Nonfatal injuries for last year were estimated at 1,600,000 or about 14 per cent above 1940. The council said about 70,000 of these resulted in permanent disability.

Wage loss, medical expense and overhead costs of insurance were set at $750,000,000.

Missouri reports of 9 reported accident fatalities indicated an increase of 50 per cent, but the council noted differences in population, industries and compensation laws, among the states as a factor which made comparisons inaccurate.

Fish Aroused By Questioner During Trial

Is Called As A Witness In Trial Of German Agent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-NY) shouted in district court today that Wm. Power Maloney, a special assistant to the attorney general, had uttered "a lie" when he implied that Fish held views similar to those expressed in a book in Nazi philosophy.

Fish was called as a government witness against George Sylvester Viereck, registered German agent charged with withholding information he was required by law to file with the state department. Under questioning, Fish said he had known Viereck for many years and that he knew him only as "an American citizen of long and good standing." He then was asked if he had read a book published by Viereck in 1930 containing an exposition of German propaganda. Fish said he had not read the book.

"Isn't it a coincidence" asked Maloney, "that the views on Nazi propaganda expressed in that book are similar to those you have held as a congressman?"

Leaning forward in the witness chair, Fish hotly retorted:

"The man who made that statement lies."

"Are you referring to Mr. Viereck?" inquired Maloney.

"I'm referring to you," Fish shot back.

Turning to Justice F. Dickinson Letts then, Fish asked:

"Hasn't a man any rights in this court? Does he have to be insulted."

"I think the American people have been insulted," Maloney interposed.

Justice Letts then advised Fish he could make any statement he chose.

Talking to the jury, Fish explained:

"I suspected that sooner or later this assistant attorney general would make a statement of the kind. I've been in congress 22 years, and not one piece of Nazi propaganda ever has gone out of my office with my knowledge and consent."

Yesterday George Hill, a former secretary to Fish, testified that Fish had directed him, in the presence of Viereck, to mail out under the senator's frank 125,000 copies of a speech by the late Farmer-Labor Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota.

Hill is under a two to six year sentence for perjury for telling a grand jury he did not know Viereck.

Spy Case Rested By Government

NEW YORK, Feb. 20—(AP)—The government rested its case today against five men and a woman accused of gathering vital United States defense data and transmitting it to agents and officials of the German reich.

The trial against the six persons, formally charged with conspiracy to violate the espionage act, started February 3.

Principal witness for the government was an attractive German-born girl, Lucy Boehmler, 18-year old high school student, who pleaded guilty to a superseded indictment before the trial started.

She testified that Kurt Kreder Ludwig, named by the government as head of the ring and a paid professional German agent, had been engaged in gathering information about the army and the navy, production of defense industries, ship movements and other information vital to the nation's safety.

Her testimony was corroborated, the government contended, by scores of letters.

Pension Plan Is Rescinded

Raise In Pay To Fighting Men Abroad Voted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(AP)—In response to angry criticism from all over the country, the senate voted last night, 75 to 5, to scrap the "pensions for congress" law and then decided to give the nation's fighting men abroad a raise in pay.

Exactly one month after it voted, 42 to 24, to grant pension privileges to members of congress, the president, vice-president and cabinet, the chamber reversed itself in response to widespread reaction that included a "bundles for congress" movement and other barbed criticism.

Goes To House

Only five senators voted against the repealer, which now goes to a house which seems eager to approve it. The five "no" votes were cast by Senators LaFollette (Prog-Wis), Nye (R-ND), Wallgren (D-Wash), Clark (D-Idaho) and Mead (D-NY).

Soon after the vote, the chamber accepted a suggestion from Senator Clark (D-Mo) and voted for an increase of 20 per cent in the base pay for enlisted men and 10 per cent for officers serving in the army and navy in foreign countries, and in Midway, Hawaii and the Philippines.

This, explained Chairman Walsh (D- Mass) of the senate naval committee, was in line with action taken during the last world war.

In One Bill

This measure and the pension repealer were all wrapped up in a bill continuing for one year the pay of civilian and military personnel captured or missing in connection with the war. The whole measure was sent to the house for action.

After a sharp fight, the chamber slapped down, 49 to 22, an attempt by Senator Downey (D-Calif) to attach a repealer, granting a $30 a month pension to all citizens over 60 who are certified by states as needy individuals.

Downey presented his plan despite opposing arguments, including a warning by Senator George (D-Ga) that the people want no wrangling over pensions for any group at this time.

Predict Victory For This Year

(By Eddie Gilmore)

MOSCOW, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Red Star declared today that the fighting coalition of the United States, Britain and Soviet Russia is stronger than Germany in resources and reserves, and predicted the defeat of Adolf Hitler's spring campaign and the crushing of his armies this year.

"Economic resources will mean the final decision," said the journal of the Red army. "Soviet Russia, Britain and the United States are producing 28 times as much gasoline as Germany together with her vassals and occupied lands."

Red Star said that in his efforts for a quick victory over the Soviet Union Hitler lost 6,000,000 men in the first five months of the war. Since then the rate of loss has been even greater the newspaper asserted.

Germany cannot replace her lost manpower; the main mass of the regular German fighting force already has been destroyed or incapacitated, Red Star said.

Red Star raised a question whether Hitler's talk of a great spring offensive is not intended primarily to raise the spirits of his troops and gloss over the bad taste of his present campaign.

The newspaper said it seemed odd that a military secret such as plans for a spring offensive should be so widely publicized.

Dispatches from the fighting front said 1,500 Germans had died in three days of counter-attacks in a single sector of the southern front, where the Nazis were trying to check a Soviet wedge being driven into the Donets basin.

Merry-Go-Round

to make. But he has weeks in which to make them. He can discuss the issues pro and con with his colleagues if necessary over a period of months.

However, a Secretary of State, War or Navy in wartime must make decisions affecting the security of 130,000,000 people and must make those decisions in hours or even minutes. Therefore, if President Roosevelt believes older men are not qualified to make much more deliberate legal decisions, then even more are old men unqualified to make immediate wartime decisions affecting the safety of the nation.

The Four Old Men

At present, the President has in his cabinet four men over seventy or in their late sixties holding important wartime positions. They are:

Henry L. Stimson, 75, Secretary of War.

Cordell Hull, 70, Secretary of State.

Frank Knox, 68, Secretary of the Navy.

Jesse Jones, 68, Secretary of Commerce and in charge of war loans for rubber, aluminum and tin which may mean defeat or victory.

These men are among the President's closest, friends and supporters. Some have been with him a long time. They are men of great distinction, dignity and charm. But if the President is correct that older men cannot function as efficiently, then all the more certainly men around seventy have not the physical strength or alertness to prosecute an all-out war against the most alert, ruthless and resourceful enemies this country has ever faced.

Furthermore, whether the President was right or wrong in his arguments regarding the age of Supreme Court justices, it remains a fact that some of his older cabinet members have made mistakes of judgment regarding our raw materials, regarding our relations with France and China, which if committed by regular army officers would have been court martial offenses in any other administration.

Board of Elder Statesmen

Therefore, we suggest that the President be consistent with his Supreme Court theories and elevate his older cabinet officers to a Board of Elder Statesmen.

For instance, he might take a leaf from the the book of Bernard Baruch who did such a bang-up job as head of the War Industries Board in the last war. Time after time Baruch has been offered an important defense job in Washington; but time after time he has refused. Baruch is 72, says he is not as strong as he used to be, contends he can be far more useful to the war effort if he remains independent, drawing no salary, but free to criticize and make suggestions. So once a week Baruch comes to Washington, drops in on his old friends in the War, Navy Departments, and the OPM and "gives them hell."

As a result he has made himself one of the most useful men in the entire United States.

Equally useful could be a Board of Elder Statesmen composed of Henry L. Stimson, Cordell Hull, Jessee Jones and Frank Knox. Add to them Baruch with his wartime experience and Charles Evans Hughes with his experience as Secretary of State and Chief Justice of the United States, and the nation would have a board of advisers completely independent of politics, completely free to criticize anything which went wrong, capable of making suggestions to the President himself.

Elder Statesman Hull

Chairman of such a board might be Cordell Hull. Mr. Hull will go down as one of our great Secretaries of State. His job on reducing tariffs and pioneering for trade treaties alone will ensure him a place in history.

In recent months, however, Mr. Hull has lacked some of his old fire and energy. Close friends say that the war has depressed him, and not for months have they seen him smile.

Perhaps it was this nervousness and fatigue which caused him to make the unfortunate statement about the "so-called" Free French, a statement for which he subsequently apologized and which was a serious rebuff to the independent governments of France, Greece, Jugoslavia and all the others which we are encouraging to resist Hitler.

Perhaps fatigue also was behind Mr. Hull's veto of Colonel Donovan's plan to send a second Colonel Lawrence to make friends with the Arab chieftains in French North Africa, especially around Dakar. Donovan had commissioned Colonel Charles Sweeney, familiar with the Arab tribes, to go to Dakar, and do what Colonel T. E. Lawrence did when he turned the tide against Turkey in the last war.

But Secretary Hull flatly refused to give a passport to Colonel Sweeney. He said that his mission, even though secret and not officially connected with the United States, might offend Vichy.

Today, Secretary Hull, tired and ill, is taking several months vacation. And like most conscientious public servants who have served their country long and well, he has little money or resources to fall back on.

Therefore what could be more beneficial to the American people than for Cordell Hull to sit on an Elder Statesmen policy board, with salary, without having to make a hundred decisions a day, and give the country the benefit of his detached, long-range vision—while younger men run the fast-moving machinery of our diplomacy.

A Time Of War

"To everything," wrote the wise old Preacher in the Book of Ecclesiastes, "there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven; a time to be born and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted; a time to kill and a time to heal; a time to break down and a time to build up; a time to mourn and a time to dance . . . a time to love and a time to hate; a time of war and a time of peace . . ."

It has befallen all of us to live part of our lives in a time of war. At this moment, with millions of America's manhood registering for service, of whom perhaps two more millions will be called this year in addition to two millions now serving, it is a time of goodby. It is a hard time for everyone; but it is hardest for those who must part, and who must say goodby.

If there were no more than that, it would be insupportable. But the same old Preacher in his wisdom knew that the time to kill is followed by the time to heal. That, too, will come.

Perhaps all America is saying goodby to many things. Goodby to all the old smug feeling that we were in the world, yet not of it. Goodby to the old tendency to measure every man with a dollar-marked rule. Goodby to the hectic "easy money" days of the twenties, which so nearly wrought our spiritual ruin. Goodby to uncontrolled selfishness which made material life so much less good than it ought to be for so many.

Goodby to false social standards and cancerous anvy. Goodby to arbitrary and artificial class distinctions, existing in America without a shadow of an excuse for being, conjured up sometimes even where they do not exist.

Goodby to despair and impotence in the face of trouble, to cringing submission to economic misery for which there is no longer any reason except the inelastic workings of the mind of man. Goodby to fear and doubt and lack of faith. Yes, goodby to all that.

Out of the fiery trial of this war, with all its goodbys and heartbreaks, all its pain and suffering, all its destruction and hatred, can come the America of which our fathers dreamed—a land of freedom for all.

To everything there is a season, and the time for these things may also come after the guns are silent. Anyone who does not dedicate himself to this, as well as to winning the war, has failed himself, has failed America, has failed humanity.

Government To Sell Wheat For Feed

Interested Farmers Should Contact AAA Office Immediately

The department of agriculture has just announced a program for selling Commodity Credit Wheat, B. C. Claycomb, chairman of the Pettis County AAA committee said yesterday.

Cost of the grain will be approximately 86 cents for whole wheat and 90 cents for cracked grain. Wheat must be fed to livestock and cannot be resold by the farmer.

Purpose of the wheat selling program is to provide ample feed surplus for increased production of "Food for Freedom." "Feed wheat at a reasonable price will make possible more profitable production of livestock and poultry products," Claycomb said. "It will also release greatly needed warehouse storage space for the 1942 crop."

The wheat for sale is sound and merchantable. No heated, musty, sick or weevily wheat will be sold under this plan.

"Any farmer who desires wheat for feed should contact the county AAA committee immediately," Claycomb stated. Transportation facilities are now available but may be seriously curtailed within a few months, he added. Also, a cent per bushel per month will be added to the wheat price beginning March 1, 1942.

Brazil Offers New Field Of Jobs For U.S. Workers

A new field of jobs in South America has been opened recently, according to information released yesterday by W. Norris Palmer, manager of the Sedalia office of the United States Employment Service.

Qualifications for most of the positions, which have been offered by the Brazilian government, demand specialized experience in the individual fields of work. Salaries are high and the cost of living in Brazil is low, Palmer said. Dr. Roberta Mange, a representative of the Brazilian government is now in the United States and has furnished new information on the positions with the South American government which are now open.

"This recruitment to provide the Brazilian government with technicians fits into the general program of the United States government in promoting hemisphere solidarity between the Americas," Palmer said. "The importance of filling these openings with qualified persons cannot be stressed too strongly."

Teachers and counselors to help organize and instruct vocational classes in various fields are vitally needed by the government. Specialists in ornamental iron and steel work, electro-chemistry, marble and stone work, plaster work, industrial organization, repair and maintenance of farm machinery, grape growing and winemaking and fruit growing are a few of those needed by the government. Salaries range up to 4,000 milreis per month, depending upon whether the worker is married or single.

At the present rate of exchange 20 milreis is equivalent to one U. S. dollar. Because of the low cost of living in Brazil, a salary of 2,000 milreis per month is equivalent in purchasing power to a salary of about $200 per month in the United States. Headquarters of most of the positions are principally in Rio de Janeiro.

The maximum number of hours which applicants will work is forty-four. A minimum of twenty consecutive days vacation per year with full salary is granted, Palmer said.

"Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage."—Galatians 5:1).

Brotherhood Week

> "In this critical hour we, as Americans, need more than armaments and armies to make safe our democracy. We need a secure bond of understanding among all citizens, and even more, the practice of brotherhood and of willing cooperation among Americans of every creed and racial origin."
> —Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Beginning this Sunday Americans in communities throughout the nation will observe Brotherhood Week.

This country-wide demonstration of brotherhood in action has been conducted under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews every year since 1933

Today, in our country's hour of trial, the "practice of brotherhood and of willing cooperation among Americans of every creed and racial origin" is more than ever a necessary adjunct to our democratic way of life.

In order that the spirit of brotherhood may continue to guide us in the days to come, the National Conference has formulated a four-point program in an America at war:

'One—to immunize against the disease of hatred and to eradicate intolerance whenever and wherever it reappears to disrupt American unity.

"Two—to keep before all citizens the importance of spiritual and moral values which are the essence and foundation of American life.

"'Three—to translate brotherhood . . . as exemplified in the Judaeo-Christian religions . . . into better understanding between Americans of diverse races and creeds

"Four—to encourage the spirit of neighborliness and cooperaion which is developing at the present time, and to make it a permanent habit in the United States."

Sunday School Lesson

Prayer Is Great Discipline of Soul Bringing Strength and Power to Men

Text: Luke 6-12:26

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Into this lesson on the appointment of the 12 apostles is packed about as much significant fact and truth as could be found anywhere in all the records of mankind since writing began.

First of all, we are told that "in these days Jesus went out into the mountains to pray and He continued all night in prayer to God." What days were these when Jesus thus felt the need of prayer? They were the days when His earthly mission was developing, when the crowds were hurrying to Him because of His healing and His wonderful works, and when intensely earnest souls were turning to Him because they perceived in Him a great teacher. They were days when anyone filled with ideas of worldly success would have wanted to stay with the crowd exploiting every event and incident of popularity. But Jesus went into the mountains to pray and prayed all night?

What a revelation we have here of the religion that Jesus brought to men! How utterly the standards of His truth and His kingdom are different from the standards of the world! How completely is the Christian idea of success and of triumphant life at variance with the worldly idea of success! And how deeply and strongly does this record concerning the Master speak concerning what is necessary for our lives

If Jesus felt the need of prayer, how much more do we need prayer in our lives! And if we could sense the things that Jesus prayed for in His all night meditation and supplication, would we not understand better than we do the true place and function of prayer? Can we imagine for a moment that Jesus prayed during that night on the mountain for material things or for material blessings? Did prayer for Him mean the earth-bound things which it has meant for so many of us? Or, was not prayer for Him a great discipline in which He was seeking to discover the Father's will and to conform Himself completely to it? This surely is the true place and function of prayer—not getting things in the ordinary mistaken notion of Christian prayer, but attaining to the supreme thing, which is unity of our wills with God.

It is in a passage like this, too, that we are able to perceive and understand the true humanity of Jesus. The divine revelation that He gave was in an earthly life, subject to temptation, capable of enduring trial and sorrow, subject also to weakness and heeding the disciplines by which alone life can be made strong.

The example of the Master ought to stand before us insistently whenever we have any tendency to lapse in our own morale or to take things for granted. Prayer is a great discipline of the soul, leading men to God and bringing God's strength and power to men for their daily tasks.

Then, as if it were not already enough in this lesson, we have the great passage which we call "the Beatitudes"—the blessings that Jesus pronounced which, quite as truly as the withdrawal of Jesus from the throng and His praying all night in the mountain, suggest how different the standards of right and character and success in the Kingdom of God are from the material and shallow standards that are set up in ordinary life.

To be worthy of these blessings is the supreme quest of the Christian.

Sermonette on 'Endurance'

By Rev. J. F. King, pastor of the First Methodist Church

Heb. 11:27. "By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king; for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible."

What a wonderful life story is told here in a few verses. Born of parents of great faith and courage, refusing the offer of a royal home and the sins of a wicked court, forsaking Egypt and leading the Israelites out onto that long trek back to the promised land, "enduring, as seeing him who is invisible."

By faith he endured for forty years the constant burden of leadership of a people who were constantly complaining. He endured. His faith gave to him a vision beyond that of the other people about him. They wanted to quit. They wanted to go back to slavery. They remembered the strong seasoned food they did have, but they could not visualize the country flowing with "milk and honey."

How much of a vision does your faith give you today? Can you still see the vision which drove our forefathers forward through sacrifice and even to death? They endured. Do we still have the stuff it takes and the faith and vision it takes to keep at this thing of building a free nation, and taking the message of Christ to the entire world? The quitters were buried yonder beyond Jordan but Moses raised up a young generation that caught his vision and they endured.

Like the glory of the morning star, out of the darkness, comes that story of General MacArthur and his men. They may be overcome but the fact remains that for nine weeks they have upheld the American tradition. They have endured. God give us faith, give us the ability to keep the vision, give us grace to endure.

Superintendent's Report to The Commissioners

January 10,1942.

To the Commissioners of the Sedalia Twelve Mile Special Road District:

The following report of work accomplished for the year 1941 by the Twelve Mile Special Road District is submitted for your approval.

In addition to our regular maintenance of all roads and bridges in the District, extensive improvements have been added this year to our District by new construction work.

We have completed 8 miles of new hard surfaced roads, 6.25 miles of reconstructed hard surfaced roads, 10.68 miles of new black top surfaced roads, 4 miles of roadside improvement, and 8 miles of clearing and grubbing brush. There have been installed 24 concrete drainage tiles, 34 extensions to concrete bridges, and 8 new concrete bridges.

A considerable amount of the above construction was made possible through W. P. A. projects and donations by property owners of land for right of ways and drainage. The District appreciates this cooperation of all W. P. A. officials and land owners in making these improvements possible.

WILLIAM McGEE,
Supt. Twelve Mile Dist.

TOM CARR'S SUGGESTION

CHAPTER IX

BENNY SINGER was happy. Whenever he went to town on errands for Tom Carr, he went without shrinking from encounters with his old tormentors.

"Hey, Benny! Look, kids, here's old crazy Benny!"

He didn't mind being called "crazy Benny." Not now. He had a job. He worked for Madame, and Tom Carr was his friend. There was not a cloud in Benny's sky.

Once or twice Tom Carr talked to Parris about Benny. "He's a little like Lucy, sometimes. You know, Sonny, people that are a little off that way are just like a string of beads that's come undone. The beads roll around any which-a-way. If there was some way of getting them on the string again, they'd be all right. Doctors do some right wonderful things when it comes to cutting people open and sewing them up again, but they're not so far along with people's brains."

Parris had heard Tom say all of this so many times.

"You know what I'd do if I was you?" The old man's sharp eyes shadowed with the gravity of his feelings. "I'd study that if I was you."

"Be a doctor for—for—" He didn't like to say "crazy people" to Tom.

"Yes, sir, Sonny, for crazy people. May be that nobody's found out much about it yet, but it seems to me it would be a grand thing to study. People like Benny, and —like Lucy. Not real crazy, you know, Sonny, just off a little. If there was just some way of holding them together again . . ."

Parris was pretty sure now that he would like to be a doctor. But he thought he'd rather drive two fiery bay horses like Dr. Gordon and go around saving people's lives. Suddenly he recalled that day Dr. Gordon operated on Willy Macintosh's father. He remembered the terrible yells that came from that upper window.

He realized that he loved this place—this, right here, the ground, the crisscross pattern the wiry grass made, the shiny red stems of vines, the dusky blue coat on winterberries. It was familiar and comfortable.

But even in that instant a small unease returned. He knew what the feeling was, and what it came from. Other boys had parents who were not so old as his grandmother. They had brothers and sisters and relatives. He had only his grandmother. What would happen when—when—? He couldn't say the word even to himself. Then—all of this would be gone somehow. Where would he go?

MADAME VON ELN sat on the terrace that same afternoon talking with Dr. Gordon and Colonel Skeffington.

Upstairs, Anna and another maid stood looking down at the three. Anna shook her head. "When a body sends for a doctor and a lawyer at the same time—"

Anna began to cry silently.

"You see, Colonel," Madame was saying. "I must be sure that I arrange everything. The boy has no one—no one in the world but me."

Colonel Skeffington folded and unfolded his gold-rimmed glasses.

"Yes, yes. Of course. You know, Madame, if anything should happen to you—unexpectedly—"

"It wouldn't be unexpected, now, Isaac."

"Well, well, now. What I was going to say is this: if—if your grandson finds himself alone, he can come to me any time, for as long as he wants to. Fine boy he is. Rather make a lawyer of him, though, than a doctor."

"Thank you, Isaac. I know your generous heart. I—I think Parris leans to medicine as much as to anything—except, maybe music."

Colonel Skeffington looked hard at her. "I have to be blunt, Marie. How much time do you think you have?"

Madame looked at Dr. Gordon.

"Madame has a year, maybe two—two at best."

The Colonel looked steadily at Madame for a moment.

"Parris, you say, has made good progress with his tutors?" Dr. Gordon asked the question in a sudden matter-of-fact tone.

"Excellent, Doctor. His tutors say he is far ahead of the high-school classes."

"Then we must put him in Aberdeen, at once. But it will save time if he reads medicine with someone for a couple of years. Then he can take examinations and save much time."

Dr. Gordon hesitated. "I'm going to make a suggestion you may not approve. But there is one man who could do more for him in such a way than anyone I know." He hesitated again.

"In Kings Row?" Skeffington was impatient.

"Yes. Dr. Tower."

Both Madame von Eln and Colonel Skeffington started. Dr. Gordon compressed his lips and nodded firmly. "Yes, ma'am. He's a brilliant man—most able. He's a hard student. Far ahead of any of us."

Skeffington reached for his hat. "Are there any other details, ma'am, you think of?"

"There is one more thing—and I'd like this to be clearly put in my will. As soon as practicable, I want Parris to go to Vienna for his medical training."

PARRIS was dismayed when he heard that he was to go to Aberdeen College. For the first time in his life he was near to being critical and resentful of his granmother's arrangements.

Parris did not know that he was regarded by the other students as something of a prodigy. They also thought him conceited and standoffish, so he made no friends. Outside of the classrooms, Aberdeen made but little impression on him. His reading with Dr. Tower was a different matter. He spent three afternoons each week with Dr. Tower. They were hours of excitement and revelation.

He never forgot that first afternoon when Cassandra answered his ring at the door.

"Down there—the last door."

Parris stood looking at her. She was much prettier than he had remembered her to be.

"How have you been, Cassie? I haven't seen you in an awfully long time."

"I'm all right." She looked at him steadily, her eyes very large and bright.

Parris walked the length of the dim passage and rapped softly on the door.

"Come in, come in."

The voice was something of a surprise. It was deep and musical.

"How do you do, sir."

Doctor Tower nodded. His eyes, exactly like Cassie's, Parris thought, seemed somewhat unseeing.

"Hereafter, you may come around to the study door. It won't be necesary to come through the house."

Parris felt his face flame. The simple statement seemed to carry not only a rebuke but some sort of obscure threat.

About Olives

When it is picked, the so-called "ripe" olive is green in color. It is placed in brine, allowed to ferment for two weeks, and then treated with lye solution, after which it is exposed to the atmosphere, turning the olive black. The lye is bleached out before canning.

Grain Prices In Lower Drift

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Grain prices drifted lower today, wheat and rye leading the decline with losses of as much as a cent at one stage while other cereals gave up fractions.

Support from milling and professional trader was even smaller than the meager buying of these interests earlier in the week and the market also had to absorb evening-up sales for the long week-end holiday which begins at noon tomorrow.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 cent lower than yesterday, May $1.30¼ to $1.30⅛, July $1.31⅞ to $1.31¾; corn ⅛ to ⅜ cent down, May 88c to 88⅛c, July 90c; oats ¼ to ⅜ cent down; rye ⅝ cent lower; soybeans ½ to ⅞ cent down. Beans were off 1 to 1⅝ cents at one stage but rallied on late short covering.

Wyatt Not Yet Signed Up

By KENNETH GREGORY

BUCHANAN, Ga., Feb. 20—(AP)—It was very cold out on the expansive John Whitlow Wyatt farm today, but the tall Brooklyn hurler said it was nothing compared to the cold shoulder he's getting from the Dodgers over his 1942 contract.

The whole situation has the 33-year-old, partly bald Brooklyn mound ace puzzled to the point where he spars most questions with a "I just don't know."

Wyatt said he had made three moves and he's right where he started. He made General Manager Larry MacPhail a proposition on a visit to New York recently. MacPhail didn't make him one. Then came a contract in the mail. He didn't like it, sent it back. The same day he got another contract. It wasn't as good as the first. It went back.

And there stands the 1941 agreement on terms between the Dodgers and the man who hurled 22 victories against 10 defeats for the National league champions. MacPhail hasn't replied to a letter that went back with the first contract. hasn't said one word and Wyatt is just sitting tight.

"I don't wish to be charged as a holdout," drawled the North Georgian.

Wyatt, second ranking National league hurler last season, has been reported as asking $20,000, or some $7,500 over his 1941 pay. He declined to say anything about the figures at this stage, but added that "although I may be a little out of line on what I'm asking, I think my services to the Dodgers are worth every cent of it."

Leo Is Satisfied With 'Dem Bums'

HAVANA, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers opened their spring training Thursday and right away Manager Leo Durocher confided in booming words "they're the kind of a ball club I been looking for."

This all-out—if it was—observation came after Durocher demanded:

"Didn't you see the way they got into that one-hour practice? Why, they didn't wait for somebody to tell them to run. They did it themselves. It's guys like that it takes to win."

Durocher confessed he was going to do a lot of "looking at the pitchers" which brought up the painful matter of the absence of hurlers Kirby Higbe and Whitlow Wyatt, who are not in camp. It was a ban against players' wives in camp that kept Higbe in Miami.

Wyatt is a holdout, as is Outfielder Fred (Dixie) Walker. Durocher had "no word" about them.

The two newcomers with the best chances of sticking are Eddie Head and Chester Kehn, from the Dodgers' Montreal farm.

Attempt To Keep Conference Grip

Whether the Smith-Cotton high school Tigers clamp their claws on third place in the Central Missouri conference will be decided tonight when the local basketeers tear into Kirksville in their final scheduled game of the season on the Sedalia court.

Kirksville defeated the Sedalians by only a few points a few weeks ago, and the local quintet has asserted its hunger for revenge and the opportunity to close the conference with a victory song.

The Tigers will have their chance to shift into high gear next Wednesday when they meet the Marsall high school Owls in the regional basketball tournament on the Boonville court. If the Sedalians defeat Marshall, they'll be granted a crack at either the Jefferson City Jays or Clinton high school, who meet in the initial bracket of the contest.

Drury Takes MCAU Win From Liberty

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Drury college stacked up a onesided first-half lead and coasted to a 34-24 MCAU victory over William Jewell here last night.

William Jewell started a second-string lineup and before first-stringers could be rushed into the fray, Drury had a 11-1 lead. They stretched this to 16-1 before the Cardinals scored their first field goal. The score was 19-8 at halftime. Drury scoring was led by Mac Bonebrake with 11 points, while Bill Cunningham was tops for the Liberty visitors with 8.

George Evans Out Of Tiger Lineup

The injury of George Evans, Sedalia, veteran guard on the University of Missouri basketball team is a shock to the Missourians who are in the Big Six Conference fifth place standing, and had started on the upgrade.

Evans, in a tussle during the game with Kansas State last Saturday night received a hernia. He will be unable to play the rest of the season and is expected to be replacek by Sophomore Earl Stark.

Jeff City Plays Lincoln Tonight

The strong Lincoln university high school team from Jefferson City, will invade the local Lincoln high school gym tonight. The Jefferson City lads are well organized and appear to be the strongest team in the state this year, and will offer the local boys the stiffest of competition.

The game should provide many thrills as the local hoop stars have not been defeated on their home court this season. A preliminary girls' game will begin at 8 o'clock.

Program Given Patriotic One

Higher Post Is Given Cripps In The Cabinet

Beaverbrook Is Out In Changes By Churchill

LONDON, FRIDAY, Feb. 20.— (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps, former ambassador to Moscow and a rising star in British politics, was named Lord Privy Seal and House of Commons leader by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today in a cabinet reshuffle dictated by parliamentary criticism over Britain's recent military reverses and by the approach of vital spring offensives.

Oliver Lyttelton, known as "one of Winston's bright young men," was made minister of state in charge of production to supplant the dynamic Lord Beaverbrook, who declined to join the new war cabinet on grounds of health.

Beaverbrook, who organized Britain's aircraft and tank production, will go to the United States to carry on the task of pooling the resources of the United Nations.

Joins War Cabinet

Lyttleton, who has been minister of state in the Middle East, will join the war cabinet, reduced from nine to seven members, and will exercise "general supervision over production."

Laborite Sir Stafford replaces Clement Attlee as Lord Privy Seal, and will take the place of Churchill himself in facing a House of Commons which has shown increasing resentment over the fact the prime minister has not shorn himself of some of his portfolios.

Attlee, in response to dominions demands for representation in the war cabinet, becomes secretary of state for dominion affairs.

Dropped from the war cabinet were the veterans, Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, and Arthur Greenwood, labor minister without portfolio.

Churchill Has Three Posts

The hold-overs who will direct British strategy at a crucial moment in history include Prime Minister Churchill, who remains as defense minister and first lord of the treasury, Attlee, labor minister Ernest Bevin, Foreign Minister Secretary Anthony Eden, and the Lord President of the Council, Sir John Anderson.

Churchill disarmed his opponents, gathering for a bitter house debate over British war reverses, by announcing the changes in which he gave way on all major points save one—that of his own retention of the ministry of defense.

Attlee, as a direct representative of the dominions, answers the repeated Australian requests for a place in the war cabinet.

Younger Direction

Appointment of Lyttelton was a guarantee that a younger man will boss Britain's production effort. Cripps will lift much work from Churchill's shoulders by being his stand-in for House of Commons sessions.

Informed sources advanced the idea that Churchill's retention of the defense ministry was vitally necessary because the post involves such momentous decisions that only the prime minister can make them.

Attlee will remain as Churchill's deputy, taking his chair at cabinet meetings in the prime minister's absence.

The withdrawal of Lord Beaverbrook from the highest councils of state was seen as a victory for Labor Minister Bevin who long has had a standing feud with "the Beaver" over the latter's attitude toward labor production problems.

Calls It Stalin Victory

BERLIN (From German broadcasts)—Feb. 20.——The German radio described British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's war cabinet shakeup today as a bit of "democratic political juggling" resulting in a victory for Premier Joseph Stalin of Soviet Russia.

With the appointment of Sir Stafford Cripps, former ambassador to Moscow, to a place in the war cabinet, "the Bolshevization of Britain has received official confirmation," the radio said.

field. The Japanese scattered and fled.

After that first taste of direct conflict, the 31st regiment was withdrawn to reserve positions on MacArthur's right flank—the very spot the enemy chose for a terrific attack ten days later.

Youthful Filipino troops experiencing their first combat were in the front lines of this sectar, along the south bank of the Labangan river, when the assault began.

They gave way before overwhelming numbers of Japanese strongly supported by artillery and aircraft. The enemy succeeded in crossing the river and driving a wedge approximately a mile wide and a half mile deep into the Usaffe lines. Some of the defense units were turned to positions at right angles to the front.

Then Col. Charles Steel Davidson, commander of the 31st, received orders to counter-attack, push the Japanese out of the salient and restore the position, which had been held by a full division.

The regiment moved up under bombing and shelling and prepared to go into action on a mile-wide front while maintaining contact with the division on its right and other Philippine army units on its left.

The attack was launched at 8:15 a. m., with the 31st's second battalion on the right and its first battalian on the left.

Major Lloyd C. Moffett of Denver led the first battalion through a deep ravine and up its opposite slope. A 50-yard advance then was made into an uncut tangle of sugar cane, where the Americans ran headlong into a wave of Japanese attacking the exposed left flank of the division.

The entire field, one grizzled veteran commented later, was 'lousy with Japs."

The second battalion also pressed forward, slashing paths through the sugar cane and advancing single file in the face of heavy machinegun fire.

Gives Life In Bravery

Private Elmer P. Bushrig crawled through the rain of bullets in an attempt to rescue a wounded companion. For his bravery, he gave his own life.

The second attack, moving inch by inch, covered only 150 yards to the edge of a second ravine by nightfall, but the first battalion, after its initial brush with the enemy, encountered less resistance.

With Lieut. Col. Edward B. Bowes of San Francisco taking direct command, it reached the main Japanese positions on the bank of the Labangan by 4 p. m., closing half of the original gap in the defense lines but leaving a large pocket of enemy resistance on its right rear and flank.

Next morning the second battalion, aided by fire support from the first, resumed the attack, driving into the second ravine and up the farther side.

Five times the Americans reached the top, but five times they were driven off by withering machinegun, rifle and mortar fire.

One of the main obstacles was a machinegun nest pouring fire into the ravine from the left. Private Ronald T. Wangberg volunteered to blast it. He crawled close and tossed a grenade but missed, thus exposing his own position. He threw a second grenade, which failed to explode, and then was killed.

Denies Knowing Of Slush Fund

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20—(AP)—Louis H. Egan, distinguished looking former president of the Union Electric Company of Missouri, spent 20 years building the utility from a $30,000,000 investment to a $250,000,000 three-state power colossus in 1939, when he was forced to resign.

But during that time, he asserted emphatically, he never once knew of a company slush fund for political purposes.

This out-and-out denial featured Egan's testimony in his own defense yesterday in the federal court trial in which he and Union Electric are charged with violation and conspiracy to violate the corrupt practices section of the holding company act of 1935.

Didn't he make political contributions himself, as government witnesses had testified?

"Oh, yes," Egan retorted. "I have made them for many years. I made them on my own behalf. They were personal contributions."

One such contribution, he testified, was $1,000 to the Republican national committee in 1936.

But Egan declared he had no knowledge of a $591,000 political fund which the government contends the utility built up in the 1933 campaign through padded expense accounts, insurance refunds, kickbacks from attorneys' fees and other means.

Egan said Frank J. Boehm, former executive vice president, had charge of accounts.

"He was an accounting man. I didn't know about it and didn't like it, so he took charge of that," the former president asserted.

"Did you have confidence in Boehm?" defense counsel questioned.

"I did. As an operating man he was one of the smartest I have ever known," Egan replied.

Boehm testified for the government and explained in detail the building of the alleged slush fund and its disbursement. He faces a five-year sentence in prison on a conviction of perjury in the SEC investigation of Union Electric.

'Revitalize' In High Command

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—Appointment of Brigadier General Dwight D. Eisenhower as chief of war plans for the army general staff left Brigadier General Harry L. Twaddle today as the only pre-Pearl Harbor holdover among the heads of the high command's five divisions.

The war department announced last night that Eisenhower would succeed Major General Leonard T. Gerow, who was shifted to command of the 29th division. Eisenhower had been chief of staff of the Third army at San Antonio, Texas.

Officials explained the change, like the three which preceded it in less than two months, was to implement the policy of General George C. Marshall, the chief of staff, to "revitalize" the high command by rotating high ranking officers between staff and field assignments.

Previously Brigadier General John H. Hildring took over from Brigadier General Wade Haislip in G-1, the personnel division; Brigadier General Raymond Lee succeeded Major General Sherman Miles in G-2, military intelligence, and Major General Brehon H. Somervell became the boss of G-4, general supply, in place of Major General Eugene H. Raybold.

Twaddle continues as chief of G-3, operations and training.

An assistant military adviser to the Philippines from 1935 to 1940, Eisenhower helped Gen. Douglas MacArthur plan the military organization of the islands.

Gerow, his predecessor as chief of war plans, has held the post for more than a year.

Perfect Rating After Being Badly Crippled

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Mason Hohl, 18, was given a perfect physical rating in his medical examination at the University of California at Los Angeles.

A 2-inch scar on his right leg, just below the knee is his only physical reminder that he barely was able to stumble along only 18 months ago. He was badly crippled by infantile paralysis.

Now he's a member of the UCLA R. O. T. C. unit and walks and runs as easily as any of his fellow cadets.

Hohl was presented to the Los Angeles County Medical Association last night as Dr. Anthonie van Harreveld and Dr. Harvey E. Billig, Jr., a lieutenant in the U. S. army medical corps, told how they discovered a polio treatment which effected marvelous results on five patients.

The treatment consists of crushing an entire nerve, degeneration of which caused paralysis in the muscles. As the nerve fibers struggle to reestablish connection with the muscle, they grow and multiply by division. Thus they eventually motivate not only the muscle fibers which the nerves supplied before the crushing, but many times that number.

Dr. Billig said the research began with rabbits and it "took a bit of daring to try it on the first human"—Hohl, son of Dr. Elizabeth Mason Hohl, president of the American Women's Medical Association.

Hohl and the next three patients underwent operations in which incisions were made on their legs.

The fifth was a 42-year-old woman who became an infantile paralysis victim in 1904. Instead of surgery, manual pressure was exerted against the left femoral nerve in the thigh. Muscles supplied by the nerve have improved so much that she now can straighten her knee. Treatment began only three months ago.

Dr. Billig said the nerve crushing discovery probably explains why most publicised treatment, including muscle re-education and deep massage, sometimes are surprisingly successful. He theorized that some nerve-crushing was caused accidentally in such treatments.

Rush Assured On Production

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—(AP)—A senate appropriations subcommittee, studying a $32,070,901,900 army-navy money bill, asked a report today from Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, on how far military expenditures are lagging behind congressional appropriations.

Pointing out that if congress approves the pending bill in its present form it will have voted military appropriations and authorizations totaling $71,286,646,702 since Jan. 5, committee members said they wished to learn whether the production program was being speeded accordingly.

Last fall, William S. Knudsen, then co-director of the office of production management, reported to the committee that while congress had appropriated fifty-six billion dollars up to that time, only about seven billion dollars actually had been spent then to pay for delivered goods.

Other war department officials, including Lt. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, were said to have given an encouraging report, at a closed session yesterday, of the step-up in manufacture of all types of equipment, especially airplanes.

Senators were said to have been assured by the army officials that every possible step was being taken to rush men, machines and supplies to vital defense posts in all parts of the world, including the southwestern Pacific.

Enemy Cargo Ship Sunk By U. S. Sub; Jap Planes Downed

Americans Take Part In Air Fight Over Dutch Naval Base

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(AP)—American fighter planes, striking effectively in defense of Java, have shot down six Japanese aircraft over Soerabaja while in the China sea a United States submarine has sunk a 5,000-ton enemy cargo ship.

These successes were reported late today in war and navy department communiques and aside from their immediate effect on the battle for the Dutch East Indies appeared significant for two reasons:

The war department said 16 army P-40 pursuit planes took part in the air fight with 27 Japanese craft over Soerabaja, Dutch naval base. This was the largest number of these craft yet reported in a single action.

First Since January

The navy's report was the first mentioning American submarine activity in the China sea since a communique of January 26 said a submarine had torpedoed an enemy aircraft carrier in the battle of Macassar Strait.

Earlier the war department disclosed that the Japanese have brought flame-throwers to Bataan for use in their expected all-out assault on General Douglas MacArthur's army.

MacArthur advised, a war department communique said, that American-Filipino forces captured several flame-throwers along with three pieces of enemy artillery and a quantity of ordnance and signal equipment in a local action.

It was the first mention in a communique of flame-throwers, the weapon which the Nazis employed with deadly effectiveness against France's Maginot line.

Step Up Operations

The communique said also that the Japanese were stepping up their siege operations against the Manila Bay fortifications and were concentrating on little Fort Frank.

The hammering, first started early this month, failed as before to accomplish "a great amount of damage," the war department said. The pounding has kept up, nevertheless, day after day, with the forts' guns retaliating by smashing some of the hostile batteries.

Fort Frank, singled out as a particular object of the siege guns on the south shore of the bay in Cavite province, is the most vulnerable of the forts because of its location only a mile off-shore. It thus is within easy range of guns of all caliber.

Fort Frank occupies little Carabao island, southernmost of a string of fortifications which includes Fort Mills on Corregidor island, Fort Hughes on Caballo, and Fort Drum on El Fraile.

Senate Votes To Scrap Pension Plan

Also Approves Pay Increase For Men In Army And Navy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(AP)—In response to angry criticism from all over the country, the senate voted tonight, 75 to 5, to scrap the "pensions for congress" law and then decided to give the nation's fighting men abroad a raise in pay.

Exactly one month after it voted, 42 to 24, to grant pension privileges to members of congress, the president, vice-president and cabinet, the chamber reversed itself in response to widespread reaction that included a "bundles for congress" movement and other barbed criticism.

Goes To House

Only five senators voted against the repealer, which now goes to a house which seems eager to approve it. The five "no" votes were cast by Senators LaFollette (Prog-Wis), Nye (R-ND), Wallgren (D-Wash), Clark (D-Idaho) and Mead (D-NY).

Soon after the vote, the chamber accepted a suggestion from Senator Clark (D-Mo) and voted for an increase of 20 per cent in the base pay for enlisted men and 10 per cent for officers serving in the army and navy in foreign countries, and in Midway, Hawaii and the Philippines.

This, explained Chairman Walsh (D- Mass) of the senate naval committee, was in line with action taken during the last world war.

In One Bill

This measure and the pension repealer were all wrapped up in a bill continuing for one year the pay of civilian and military personnel captured or missing in connection with the war. The whole measure was sent to the house for action.

After a sharp fight, the chamber slapped down, 49 to 22, an attempt by Senator Downey (D-Calif) to attach a repealer, granting a $30 a month pension to all citizens over 60 who are certified by states as needy individuals.

Downey presented his plan despite opposing arguments, including a warning by Senator George (D-Ga) that the people want no wrangling over pensions for any group at this time.

To Replace Burma Road

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 18—(AP)—China's government disclosed today that Chiang Kai-Shek has made concrete arrangements to replace the Burma road with an India-to-China rail-road-river route, now that the approaches to Rangoon are mined and that the menaced city is no longer a practical port of entry for war material consigned to China.

Chinese troops meanwhile are in positions on the upper Thailand-Burmese frontier for offensive action by which they expect to invade Thailand "step by step" and relieve the Japanese pressure on lower Burma, an army spokesman said. (A Reuter version of this statement quoted the spokesman as saying Chinese forces already were advancing into Thailand.)

An official Chinese statement, disclosed the mining of the Rangoon sea approaches and the yielding for the time being of Rangoon as a port of entry.

But it said Generalissimo Chiang, in his current talks in India, had solved satisfactorily the problem of India-Chinese transport; that steps were settled upon whereby a much larger quantity of goods than ever traversed the Burma road would henceforth be transported to China via India.

One of the mast important tests conducted to aid airport construction is that required to determined the kind of surfacing demanded by a particular soil to withstand the load of the heaviest type of modern plane in all kinds of weather.

Brazil Offers New Field Of Jobs For U.S. Workers

A new field of jobs in South America has been opened recently, according to information released yesterday by W. Norris Palmer, manager of the Sedalia office of the United States Employment Service.

Qualifications for most of the positions, which have been offered by the Brazilian government, demand specialized experience in the individual fields of work. Salaries are high and the cost of living in Brazil is low, Palmer said. Dr. Roberta Mange, a representative of the Brazilian government is now in the United States and has furnished new information on the positions with the South American government which are now open.

"This recruitment to provide the Brazilian government with technicians fits into the general program of the United States government in promoting hemisphere solidarity between the Americas," Palmer said. "The importance of filling these openings with qualified persons cannot be stressed too strongly."

Teachers and counselors to help organize and instruct vocational classes in various fields are vitally needed by the government. Specialists in ornamental iron and steel work, electro-chemistry, marble and stone work, plaster work, industrial organization, repair and maintenance of farm machinery, grape growing and winemaking and fruit growing are a few of those needed by the government. Salaries range up to 4,000 milreis per month, depending upon whether the worker is married or single.

At the present rate of exchange 20 milreis is equivalent to one U. S. dollar. Because of the low cost of living in Brazil, a salary of 2,000 milreis per month is equivalent in purchasing power to a salary of about $200 per month in the United States. Headquarters of most of the positions are principally in Rio de Janeiro.

The maximum number of hours which applicants will work is forty-four. A minimum of twenty consecutive days vacation per year with full salary is granted, Palmer said.

Move On Into White Russia

MOSCOW, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The Red army pushed more forces into White Russia today and thereby advanced a northern pincer farther behind strategic Smolensk, where one of the strongest German armies in Russia is finding itself increasingly threatened with encirclement.

The Russians already had thrust deep into the Nazi lines south of Smolensk, and some observers expect an early announcement of sweeping victory in this area.

The people of the Soviet Union specifically are awaiting next Monday, the 24th anniversary of the founding of the Red army, expecting that a triumphal announcement will be made of a widespread liberation of Soviet territory from German rule. The government for some time has been silent on specific gains being made by the Soviet forces, reporting only general advances.

Noting the deep thrusts the Russians are making both above and below Smolensk, some observers expect this region will figure in the announcement.

Government To Sell Wheat For Feed

Interested Farmers Should Contact AAA Office Immediately

The department of agriculture has just announced a program for selling Commodity Credit Wheat, B. C. Claycomb, chairman of the Pettis County AAA committee said yesterday.

Cost of the grain will be approximately 86 cents for whole wheat and 90 cents for cracked grain. Wheat must be fed to livestock and cannot be resold by the farmer.

Purpose of the wheat selling program is to provide ample feed surplus for increased production of "Food for Freedom." "Feed wheat at a reasonable price will make possible more profitable production of livestock and poultry products," Claycomb said. "It will also release greatly needed warehouse storage space for the 1942 crop."

The wheat for sale is sound and merchantable. No heated, musty, sick or weevily wheat will be sold under this plan.

"Any farmer who desires wheat for feed should contact the county AAA committee immediately," Claycomb stated. Transportation facilities are now available but may be seriously curtailed within a few months, he added. Also, a cent per bushel per month will be added to the wheat price beginning March 1, 1942.

Mrs. J. D. Horton Suffers Stroke

Anson Finnell, night chief of police, received word yesterday that his mother, Mrs. J. D. Horton, had suffered a stroke of paralysis early yesterday morning at her home in El Paso, Tex. Her condition was reported improved later in the day.

Mrs. Horton is the former Mrs. Maude Finnell, for a number of years a member of the high school faculty here.

Her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Starke, 1600 East Ninth street, left early this morning to go to her mother's bedside. Besides Anson Finnell Mrs. Horton has another son in Sedalia, Stein Finnell, a teacher at Whittier school.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton reside at 1117 Williams street in El Paso.

Reform British Cabinet

Sir Stafford Cripps Elevated; Beaverbrook Out As Ministry Head

LONDON, FRIDAY, Feb. 20.— (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps, former ambassador to Moscow and a rising star in British politics, was named Lord Privy Seal and House of Commons leader by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today in a cabinet reshuffle dictated by parliamentary criticism over Britain's recent military reverses and by the approach of vital spring offensives.

Oliver Lyttelton, known as "one of Winston's bright young men," was made minister of state in charge of production to supplant the dynamic Lord Beaverbrook, who declined to join the new war cabinet on grounds of health.

Beaverbrook, who organized Britain's aircraft and tank production, will go to the United States to carry on the task of pooling the resources of the United Nations.

Joins War Cabinet

Lyttleton, who has been minister of state in the Middle East, will join the war cabinet, reduced from nine to seven members, and will exercise "general supervision over production."

Laborite Sir Stafford replaces Clement Attlee as Lord Privy Seal, and will take the place of Churchill himself in facing a House of Commons which has shown increasing resentment over the fact the prime minister has not shorn himself of some of his portfolios.

Attlee, in response to dominions demands for representation in the war cabinet, becomes secretary of state for dominion affairs.

Dropped from the war cabinet were the veterans, Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, and Arthur Greenwood, labor minister without portfolio.

Churchill Has Three Posts

The hold-overs who will direct British strategy at a crucial moment in history include Prime Minister Churchill, who remains as defense minister and first lord of the treasury, Attlee, labor minister Ernest Bevin, Foreign Minister Secretary Anthony Eden, and the Lord President of the Council, Sir John Anderson.

Churchill disarmed his opponents, gathering for a bitter house debate over British war reverses, by announcing the changes in which he gave way on all major points save one—that of his own retention of the ministry of defense.

Attlee, as a direct representative of the dominions, answers the repeated Australian requests for a place in the war cabinet.

Younger Direction

Appointment of Lyttelton was a guarantee that a younger man will boss Britain's production effort. Cripps will lift much work from Churchill's shoulders by being his stand-in for House of Commons sessions.

Informed sources advanced the idea that Churchill's retention of the defense ministry was vitally necessary because the post involves such momentous decisions that only the prime minister can make them.

Attlee will remain as Churchill's deputy, taking his chair at cabinet meetings in the prime minister's absence.

The withdrawal of Lord Beaverbrook from the highest councils of state was seen as a victory for Labor Minister Bevin who long has had a standing feud with "the Beaver" over the latter's attitude toward labor production problems.

Two Killed In An Explosion

LAPORTE, Ind., Feb. 19—(AP)—An explosion at the nearby Kingsbury Ordnance plant this afternoon killed two employes and injured three others.

The explosion, which occurred shortly after noon, killed the workers on a shell loading line.

Plant officials said casualties were kept at a minimum because of the careful spacing of concrete and steel buildings housing working departments.

The dead and injured were not immediately identified.

Mrs. Lona Mae Pummill was granted a divorce in the circuit court yesterday from Henry Clay Pummill and she was given custoday of their minor child.

County Tax Levy To Be Reduced

Taxpayers of Pettis county will be happy to know that the county court will reduce the county tax levy from 51 cents to 44 cents on the $100 valuation this year, a saving of seven cents on the $100 valuation.

This comes as good news, particularly at a time when taxes are high, and going to be higher.

The reduction is possible because the court house bonds will be paid off next year, and the county has a sufficient surplus to make that payment without a levy as has been necessary in former years.

The court house bonds, covering the amount of $350,000, were for the period of from 1924 to 1943 inclusive.

The combined levies of school, county, road and state last year were $2.13 on the $100 valuation.

Japanese Bombs Kill 15 In Darwin

Raiders Smash For Third Time At Australian Base

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, FRIDAY, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Japanese bombers and fighter planes struck twice yesterday at Darwin on the northern coast, reportedly killing 15 persons and injuring 24, and the raiders returned this morning to smash a third time at the vital allied naval base.

Arthur S. Drakeford, Australian air minister, announced the third raid had occurred but said details were awaited.

Admit Damage

However, considerable damage admittedly was inflicted in yesterday's pounding—some of it on service installations at the port which ranks second in importance to Soerabaja in the Dutch East Indies now that Singapore and Amboina have fallen.

Drakeford has been considering the recall of Australian airmen from other parts of the British empire to defend the homeland.

In these initial attacks upon the soil of Australia proper more than 100 enemy aircraft were in action—72 bombers screened by large formations of fighters in the first raid and 21 bombers in the second.

The first assault lasted an hour and was directed against both the city itself and at shipping in the harbor.

Must Answer Call

Prime Minister Curtin, receiving urgent reports as he lay ill in a hospital, declared to the country:

"Australia has now experienced physical contact with the war. Total mobilization is the government's policy for Australia. Until all necessary machinery has been put into effect all Australians must voluntarily answer the government's call for the complete giving of everything to the nation."

Has Four Sons In U. S. Army

LEBANON, Pa., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Modest Mrs. Reuben McLaughlin, four of whose 11 children are in the army, shyly turned aside congratulations on her designation as this city's outstanding mother.

"We had to coax her quite a bit to get her to accept it. She couldn't understand why she should receive any particular honor," said Mayor C. Ray Bell.

"I never expected anything like that," related the reticent 50-year-old wife of a WPA worker. "It came as a great shock."

"She didn't want to take it at all," the mayor added, referring to a medal for her for the sons in the armed forces—Sergeant John McLaughlin, 20, and Privates Franklin, 22, Reuben, Jr., 26, and Clarence McLaughlin, 27.

Mrs. McLaughlin had a speech all prepared for the occasion, but when it came time, it dwindled to "I just don't know what to say. It makes a person feel very good in a way."

Her boys enlisted last year and Mrs. McLaughlin "feels proud that they were willing to go before being drafted."

"They're good boys and I hated to see them go but after all they're doing their duty," she said. "Do I worry? Naturally. "I don't hear from them so much. Franklin and Clarence are overseas."

So she busies herself with the seven still at home—three sons, eldest 16, and four daughters—"looking forward to America winning this war before they are old enough to go."

Headquarters Of NEI Army Attacked From Air; American Troops Join In Java Defense

Dutch Appeal For More Aid In Fight To Hold Their Last Pacific Bastion

BATAVIA, NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES, FRIDAY, Feb. 20.—(AP)—A fighter-escorted Japanese bombing attack on the inland Java city of Bandoeng, headquarters of the Netherlands East Indies army, was disclosed this morning following announcement that American troops as well as American fighter and bomber pilots now stand shoulder to shoulder with other United Nations reinforcements here.

As the allied troops worked together in preparation for the Japanese offensive expected against this last major allied position in the South Pacific except Australia, 12 Japanese bombers and 20 fighters attacked Bandoeng and inflicted some damage.

Dutch fighters got into the air promptly, and there followed aerial fighting in which one Japanese bomber was declared probably shot down. The Dutch fighters were lost, the pilot of one saving himself by parachute. The attack was yesterday.

Eight Bombers Down

Another disclosure today was that eight Japanese bombers and one fighter were shot down in a Wednesday attack on Soerabaja, the Java naval base. One allied fighter was lost, the pilot saved by parachute.

The arrival of the Americans, described as "a relatively small number" thus far, and of other expeditionary forces of the United Nations was announced with the explanation that while these contingents were "by no means large enough yet" their presence in this last and greatest Pacific bastion of the Dutch "serves as an indication that the Netherlands Indies do not fight alone."

The disclosure was made through the Dutch news agency Aneta concurrently with a communique of the Dutch command making clear that precious time was yet being bought by the defenders of the southern section of Sumatra, and with an authoritative recapitulation showing that the invader's march southward, though almost uninterrupted, had cost him heavily in men and ships.

182 Jap Ships Sunk

One hundred and eighty-two Japanese ships had been sunk or damaged up to Feb. 14 in the entire Pacific theater, it was stated. This excluded the heavy enemy losses inflicted since the beginning last week of the invasion of southern Sumatra.

Of this known and incomplete tally of the invader's casualties, 109 ships were sunk, 28 probably sunk and 45 damaged, and of all these, American ships and planes accomplished 84 of the known sinkings, 15 of the probables, and accounted for 28 of the damaged ships. Dutch forces claimed 24 sinkings, six probables and 11 ships damaged.

Only American and Dutch action was detailed; the precise allied agencies responsible for the remaining damage were not given.

Legion Finds No Authority For Flying Flag At Night

The question of whether or not it is proper to fly the American flag at night has caused debate pro and con on the subject locally, since the United States entered the war. Many Pettis countians have become interested in the manner in which the national emblem should be displayed at all times.

James Franks, adjutant of the Pettis county American Legion post, has received instructions from the department headquarters of the Legion which gives a detailed discussion on the matter.

Sunrise To Sunset

"The flag of the United States should be flown, excepting inclement weather, from sunrise to sunset," states the information issued by the department. "Of course there is no law against flying the flag at night and they can't put you in jail for it, but it is neither optional nor ethical according to any authorized flag code we have been able to find. There is no law against flying the flag upside-down, which is the signal for distress, but the flag code says it should not be flown in that manner."

Spotlighted or otherwise, the flag should never be left unguarded—where it cannot be rescued at a moment's notice from vandals, the enemy or the elements, officials asserted. Furthermore the United States Flag Association says that spotlighting would make good bombing targets for the enemy.

When Fort Embattled

The United States flag does fly at night over the national capitol. It flys at night when permanent forts or ships are engaged in battle, and it is displayed day and night over the grave of Francis Scott Key at Frederick, Md. It is also permissable to fly the flag at night for purely patriotic occasions such as during football games, parades, etc.

"The one main reason for the sunrise to sunset hours is that the flag should never be left alone and unprotected, where it might be beaten into the mud and dirt and left there until the next morning," the report continues. "This conclusion is reached by the same reasoning as anyone would use in protecting property which they value, whether for sentimental or for intrinsic reasons. It, the flag, when displayed in daylight hours is visible to and guarded by every good American citizen in proximity to the place where it is displayed. If displayed at night, and citizens leave it abandoned while they sleep, it is like leaving an automobile, with new tires, in a dark alley. The morning night find the cherished possession gone.

"We reiterate, there is no law against flying the flag at night but we know of no authorized flag code where specific authority is given, or even suggested, for flying the flag at night."

U-Boat Blasts Ships Off Trinidad

Anchored Vessels Remain Afloat; None Aboard Killed

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb. 19—(AP)—Two ships at anchorages in the Gulf of Paria off Port-of-Spain were damaged last night by explosions caused apparently by a U-boat attack, U. S. Army headquarters announced today.

The blasts flung a great sheet of flame into the sky and caused a blackout in Port-of-Spain when officials cut off the electric power supply.

None Hurt Seriously

Both vessels remained afloat and no one aboard was injured seriously.

The U. S. Army announcement said:

"There were two explosions in the Gulf of Paria anchorage off Port-of-Spain about 11:40 p. m., on the night of Feb. 18. Two vessels were damaged but both remained afloat. It is presumed the explosions were caused by a submarine but the submarine has not been located."

It was the first real action for the United States forces since they were stationed here in consequence of the U. S.-British destroyer-defense base trade in 1940.

Troops were called out within a few minutes of the explosions.

It was considered possible today the submarine still was hiding in the broad gulf which separates Trinidad from Venzuela.

Can't Locate Attacker

U. S. and British forces based here made an immediate search for the attacker, but it had not been located late today.

A few of the men aboard the ships were taken to a hospital and treated for shock, but were discharged later. None was seriously injured.

Port-of-Spain is about 600 miles east of the Dutch island of Aruba, scene of earlier submarine attacks this week.

Motor On Organ Jams, Causes Fire Call

The motor which powers the organ at the Calvary Episcopal church, Broadway and Ohio avenue, jammed shortly before 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening as the organ was being played, and caused smoke to partially fill the church.

The fire companies were called and firemen turned off the motor. There were no flames, and no serious damage resulted to the organ.

Unorthodox General

So unorthodox in his dress was General Grant, commander-in-chief of the Union forces during the civil War, that his own men frequently did not recognize him as a soldier.

U. S. Bombers Drop Loads On Submarine

U-Boat Shelling Aruba Refineries Believed Damaged

By CHANDLER DIEHL

ST. NICHOLAS, Aruba, Dutch West Indies, Feb. 19—(AP)—United States bombers, already aloft on patrol when an enemy submarine sent shells crashing into the mammoth oil refinery area here in a new attack at dawn today, dropped a load of heavy explosives so quickly as to make the pilots hopeful that the U-boat was damaged.

No damage or casualties were reported on this isle at noon, hours after the attack.

Today's attack was a renewal of Monday's raiding which resulted in the sinking and damaging of several shallow-draft tankers used in bringing oil from the Venzuelan mainland to the mammoth refineries here.

The new attack was directed only at refinery objectives.

A submarine standing three or four miles off the southeast corner of the island rocketed three flares over the island at about 5:35 a. m., lighting up the targets, and followed with a series of about five shots of about 3-inch size. All of them fell short of the tank farm and refinery and did not explode.

The bombers swung into action at this point and the submarine made a crash dive.

One of the U-boat shells hit on land near the advanced positions of the United States troops who are here cooperating with the Dutch in the defense of the important oil properties. Another hit the refinery's library building.

Still another hit a 32-room bachelor quarters building where I was spending the night.

'War Guilt' Trial Opens

RIOM, UNOCCUPIED France, Feb. 19.—(AP)—France's supreme court took under advisement tonight the question of its own constitutionality and, by implication, that of the whole Petain regime, after a violent attack upon it led by former Premiers Leon Blum and Edouard Daladier, two of five defendants, at the opening session of the French "war guilt" trial.

New Blue Book Lists Salaries

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 19—(AP)—The new Missouri blue book came off the press today, predestined to become a best seller around the capitol — for the first time it lists all state salaries.

The 1941 state legislature passed an act requiring that the Blue Book, Missouri's official manual, show the payroll for every state department and the size of the pay check of each individual.

In the past, many bureaus have listed their employes without indicating salaries.

Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown dedicated the new edition to the late W. B. Meng, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident last year. Meng, a veteran Missouri newspaper man, edited four editions of the book, which appears every two years.

Because of increased size made necessary by the payroll figures, 5,000 fewer books were printed this year than heretofore.

Imprisonment Costs

The cost of maintaining a convict in prison is estimated to be $435.19 a year while the cost of supervising a convict on parole is $46.81 annually.

And If We Fight For Freedom—?

Inconspicuous, hiding like a shy violet in the crowding news columns, is a brief story that Britain and Ethiopia have completed a new agreement providing restoration of full sovereignty for that country under Haile Selassie.

This is more important than the shy little news item indicates. Have we forgotten 1935, when Mussolini invaded the helpless little country? How the League of Nations, of which Ethiopia was a member, protested, backed and filled, proposed sanctions, and how all the great powers (including ourselves) backed down on really putting pressure on Italy to stop? How the bloody and unequal struggle went on, with reluctant young Neapolitans driven to victory over the tatterdemalion forces of the Negus?

This, 1935, was when the policy of naked aggression, begun four years before by Japan in Asia, reached Europe. Six years later, six years during which the world has known no peace, Ethiopia again becomes independent. It joins Free Syria, given last September the independence which the League promised it after World War I.

The independence of these two countries is more or less nominal today and must be so while the war goes on, for neither can defend its new-won freedom under conditions of world war. Nevertheless, it is a start, a sign.

What the allies must do is to magnify, multiply and give living reality to these small portents.

The best way to rally the world to a fight for freedom is to demonstrate, not merely with words, but with deeds that those of us who already fight, fight really for freedom.

It is fortunate, in a sense, that the Japanese have drawn the line they drew at Pearl Harbor. The long-dreaded war of the East against the West, the brown-and-yellow peoples of the world against the white, is not to be. Instead, the Japanese have chosen a war of free peoples against militaristic aggressors, and lined up the greatest of yellow peoples, the Chinese, and the greatest of brown peoples, the Indians, on the side of freedom, while Germany and Italy have similarly divided the whites by lining up with the yellow Japanese on the side of aggression. The line is not a color or race line; it is a line that divides freedom-seeking men from robots.

One deed in actually extending freedom to peoples not yet free is worth ten mililon words.

No better propaganda, no greater force in uniting the free world, could be unleashed than actual deeds in making freedom an increasing reality among all peoples touched by the power of the United Nations.

The Other Side Of The Scale

The total debt of a people is the sum of the debt of the federal government, the state and local governments, and corporate and personal debt.

Now when the federal debt unavoidably soars skyward on the wings of a vast war, it is time to reduce the other debt elements whenever possible. Economists are urging the payment of personal debts and of corporation debts with money that would otherwise be spent for decreasing stocks of consumer goods. State and local governments are being urged to hold down their expenses, and cut taxes.

Every dollar that can be cut from personal, corporate, local and state debt during this war is an offset to the unavoidably huge federal debt that is being piled up. No opportunity should be lost to hold the total debt burden in this way as small as possible, by reducing the elements of the total debt.

Twilight of the Gods

It isn't funny any more, but merely a little sickening, to read of Berlin radio broadcasts beamed for east Asia telling how Wotan, the German pagan god, is one with the Japanese god of the sun and the winds as fellow-symbols of pure Aryanism, linking Germany and Japan in a supernatural bond.

The appalling thing about all this twaddle is not merely that it is irrational, silly, and impudently faked. It is that millions of people have been induced to act on the orders of the kind of mind that produced it.

That, too, is what we are fighting.

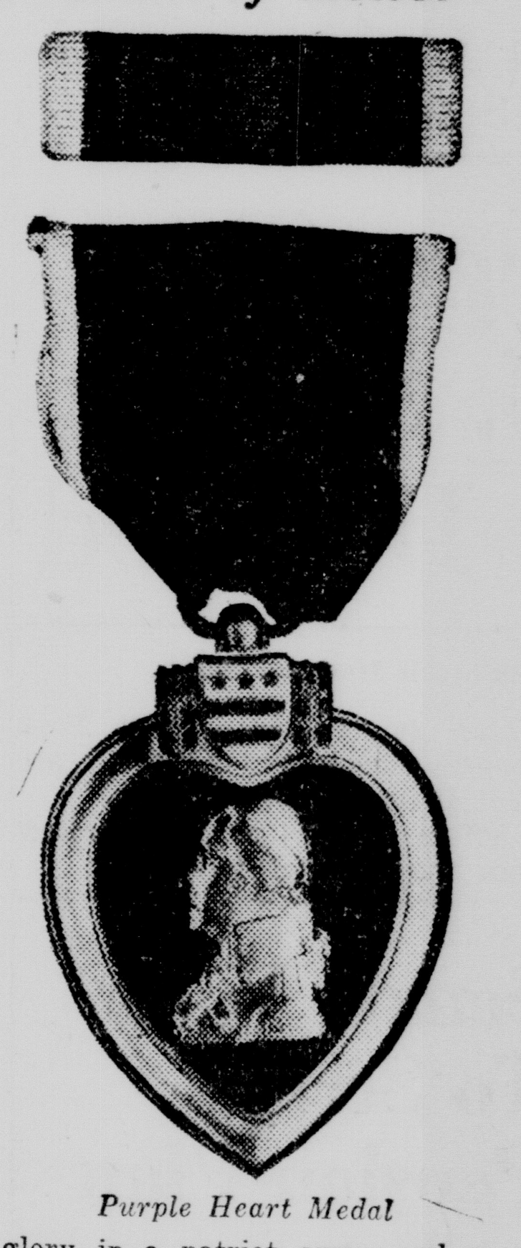
Gen. Washington's Medal of Honor



Purple Heart Medal

"The road to glory in a patriot army and a free country is open to all", declared General Washington in his order of the day August 7, 1782, instituting the first American badge for military merit.

His act was in recognition of "bravery, fidelity and good conduct" among the non-commissioned officers and private soldiers in the Continental Army. Thus was established the Order of the Purple Heart.

Individual valor has always been a distinguishing trait of the American soldier. In the lapse of more than a century and a half between Bunker Hill, Valley Forge and Stony Point to Pearl Harbor, Batan and the Macassar Straits the roster of those men who have travelled the road to glory furnishes a brilliant record of patriotism and sacrifice.

In the first dark hours of the present war their heroic deeds have thrilled their countrymen and illumined the way to ultimate victory—inspiring hope of a triumph not only for the United Nations but for downtrodden peoples throughout the world.

No gold, silver or bronze blazoned from the breasts of the heroes Washington intended to honor. Read his general order:

"The General ever desirous to cherish virtuous ambition in his soldiers, as well as to foster and encourage every species of military merit, directs that when any singularly meritorious action is performed, the author of it shall be permitted to wear on his facings over the left breast the figure of a heart in purple cloth, or silk, edged with narrow lace or binding. Not only instances of unusual gallantry, but also of extraordinary fidelity and essential service in any way shall meet with due reward. . . . The road to glory in a patriot army and a free country shall be open to all."

Subsequent to the Revolution the Order of the Purple Heart seems to have fallen into disuse and no further awards were made. Its revival was suggested at the time of the observance of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth, and its reinstitution was announced by the War Department February 22, 1932. Under changes in Army regulations the Purple Heart is authorized to persons who "while serving in the Army of the United States perform any singularly meritorious act of extraordinary fidelity or essential service." Wounds received in action are included in this category.

Talks On Food Situation Before Clubs And Schools

Mrs. Ruth Fichter, field woman for the Pettis County Agricultural Conservation Association, who is visiting the clubs, schools, and other groups of men, women or children, talking on the food situation at the present time, has the following to say relative to the food question:

"They say the poultry and the garden is the woman's job.

"Everybody has a job in this war emergency.

"If we are to get the desired increased production and reach the Pettis county goal of 2,585,579 dozens of eggs. We must take as our slogan 'Keep 'em Laying'."

"If each of the 3,000 farms in Pettis County signed up to do their part in this Food for Freedom campaign we can send a barrel of dried eggs to our Allies. Hitler will know we are not lying when he hears the slogan "Keep 'Em Flying."

"Our grandmothers and our mothers used molasses and honey to do most of their cooking with and we can, too. They dried the corn and dried the fruit, therefore didn't need so many for bills and rubbers.

Value From Gardens

"Records show that a half acre planted to garden will give money value more than ten acres planted to corn.

"When we think of the value in health for the family it can't be measured in dollars and cents.

"With a garden on each farm in Pettis county growing 20 varieties of vegetables and the whole family eating all kinds of vegetables during the summer and mothers with the help of brother and sister canning, drying and storing enough vegetables for the family to have a sufficient supply for the winter. We women can feel just as proud as any General when we look over our cellar and pantry shelves knowing we will not have to buy from the store, leaving the commercially canned for the town housewife and the soldiers.

World's Food Factory

"We are working in the food factory for the world today so we must start now because if, as Secretary Claude R. Wickard said, 'Food will win the war and write the peace.' We women, now as in the past, can still stand shoulder to shoulder with the men. In my travels over Pettis county and the contacts I have with the women and children I feel sure that Uncle Sam can depend on them to do their part in producing food. I would like to say to the city housewife when you buy your groceries this week-end and the prices seem high, just remember the average earnings in manufacturing industries have increased 33.9 per cent from August 1939 to mid November 1941.

"Retail food prices advanced 21 per cent from August 1939 to December 15 of last year, a comparable period except that it includes one more month.

"It might be a good time for the city housewife and the country housewife to get together and talk these things over and we might understand each other better. Our problems are very much the same after all, and 'unity in thought' is very important during this war emergency."

Domei Gives Its Account Of Surrender Dialogue

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts) Feb. 16.—(AP)—A Domei dispatch from Singapore gave this account of the surrender, quoting Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, commander in chief of the Japanese expeditionary forces and Lieut. Gen. A. E. Percival, commander in chief of British forces in Singapore:

"The following conversation took place between the Japanese and British commanders:

"Yamashite: 'I wish replies to be brief and to the point. I will only listen to unconditional surrender.'

"Percival: 'Yes.'

"Hamashita: 'Have any Japanese soldiers been captured by the British?'

"Percival: 'No, not a single one.'

"Yamashita: 'What about Japanese residents?'

"Percival: 'All Japanese residents interned by the British have been sent to India. However, their lives are fully protected by the Indian government.'

"Yamashita: 'I shan't hear (I am not asking) whether you wish to surrender or not, and if you wish I insist it be unconditionally. What is your answer, yes or no?'

"Percival: 'Will you give me until tomorrow?'

"Yamashita: 'Tomorrow? I cannot wait, and it is understood, then, that Japanese forces will have to attack tonight.'

"Percival: 'How about waiting until 11:30 p. m. Tokyo time (9:30 p. m. Singapore time or 10:30 a. m. eastern war time)?'

"Yamashita: 'If that is to be the case, Japanese forces will have to resume the attack until then. Will you say yes or no?'

"Percival was silent .

"Yamashita: 'I want to hear a decisive answer, and I insist upon unconditional surrender. What do you say?'

"Percival: 'Yes.'

"Yamashita: 'All right, then. Cease firing must be ordered at exactly 10 p. m. I will immediately send 1,000 Japanese troops into the city area for maintaining peace and order. Do you agree to that?'

"Percival: 'Yes.'

"Yamashita: 'If you violate these terms Japanese troops will lose no time launching a general offensive against Singapore city.')"

Memorial To J. J. Housel

Tributes Paid To Victim of Pearl Harbor Raid

Memorial services for John J. Housel of the U. S. Navy, who lost his life in the attack on Pearl Harbor, were conducted at the East Sedalia Baptist church at 2 p.m. Sunday, February 15. Relatives, friends and patriotic organizations filled the auditorium.

There were three sets of Post colors massed around the pulpit, one from the V.F.W., one from the American Legion, Post No. 16, and one from the Henderson (Negro) American Legion post.

There were delegations from the Ladies of the G.A.R., Spanish-American War Veterans, V.F.W. and their Ladies' Auxiliary, both American Legion posts and Ladies' Auxiliary to Post No. 16, and D.V.A.s.

A mixed quartet, Mrs. Walter P. Arnold, Mrs. J. M. Stott, William Morgan and Clyde Waters, sang "America" and "Beautiful Isle." Mr. Morgan sang "Last Mile of the Way," as a solo. Mrs. Lee Steele was at the piano.

Under a floodlight and directly in front of the pulpit were two large pictures draped in rich crimson velvet and banked on all sides by a large number of floral pieces. These two pictures were, one fine picture of John dressed in his navy uniform and the other was a beautiful picture of the U.S.S. Arizona, the ship on which he lost his life.

Rev. Walter P. Arnold, chaplain of the American Legion Post 16, and pastor of the church to which Mrs. Housel belongs, delivered the memorial address. The service was concluded by the audience standing in silent prayer for one minute in tribute to those who have given their lives for their country, after which taps were sounded by Buddy Arnold and the echo by Rudolph Grother. For the recessional, the members of the patriotic organizations filed past the colors and the draped pictures, doing honors to the flags and the deceased by coming to attention and saluting. It was estimated that at least one-third of the audience were parents of boys now in active service or who have given their lives in this present conflict.

Handicapped Can Aid Defense

"Physical disabilities are no bar to Defense services, if the volunteer will make a careful study of his or her abilities," states Miss Roseanne Dugan, chairman of the volunteer registration committee of the Civil Defense Council.

"Many types of service are needed, and volunteers are lacking."

Following is an extract of a letter written to the Defense Council, by a man who knows what he can and will do. He has been retired because of his physical condition, but will be a valuable defense worker, in the post to which he will be assigned:

"Would be able to guard bridges or defense buildings, night or day shift, furnishing my own transportation as long as rubber lasts on car, or would be able to transport four guards or persons engaged in Civil Defense work, to and from work. At home would be capable of handling commisary accounts, handy with soldering iron, and have a knack for mending and fixing various small articles and tools. I own a small 24" motor lathe, and am able to do light metal drilling. Could rehandle shovels broken in defense work."

If this man, aged 65 years, can and will do all of these useful and necessary things, others can help too. Miss Dugan asks that you think over your ability, make up your mind to help, and go to the Chamber of Commerce and register for the defense of your country.

C. E. Dickerson Is Killed By Motor Truck

Warsaw Man Hit At High Point On Saturday Night

Clarence Everett Dickerson, Warsaw, was instantly killed shortly before 10:00 o'clock Saturday night on Highway 65 at the High Point intersection when struck by a truck driven by Kenneth Noel, also of Warsaw. It was believed Dickerson was either walking or trying to hitch-hike to Warsaw to go to his family who live near Warsaw on the Lake of the Ozarks.

According to Noel he was driving north on the highway when a car approaching in the opposite direction blinded him for a second. He said he never saw the man and when he heard a thump on the truck he stopped down the highway and walked back and found the man lying alongside the pavement about fifteen feet south of Thirty-Second street.

The right side of the man's head had been crushed when it struck the grain body of the truck.

Had Rented Cabin

Saturday the man stopped at the Switzer Filling station and rented a cabin stating he was going to work at the Rice Hatchery on south Highway 65 and wanted to live in the cabin while working there. He was to return to the cabin Saturday night, according to Mr. Switzer.

Dickerson the past week had been working for his brother-in-law Curtis Lopp who resides on a farm twelve miles south of Sedalia on the Abell road. He had come into town Saturday, according to his mother Mrs. A. E. Dickerson, and decided Saturday night he would go to Warsaw against the protest of his mother, because of the bad weather.

Investigation Made

Sergeant Paul E. Corl was called to the scene and made an investigation as were Sheriff Ross Bothwell and Deputy Sheriff Archie Smith.

Dr. W. T. Bishop, coroner, viewed the body and ordered it taken to the McLaughlin Funeral chapel.

Noel was brought to Sedalia and questioned and released.

He had registered at the Court House Saturday.

He was born at Fristoe, Mo., April 15, 1900 the son of Albert E. and Mrs. Lousia Ellen Dickerson, 311 North Grand avenue. He was reared and educated there. He was married to Miss Lillie Brown at Warsaw about twenty-two years ago.

Surviving him is his widow and three children, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, wife of Homer Johnson, who reside north of Warsaw, a son Maxie Dickerson, and a small son Billie Dickerson of the home at Warsaw. Also surviving is his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dickerson, 311 North Grand avenue, his sister Mrs. Alice Lopp, wife of Curtis Lopp, and two sisters at Jefferson City, Mrs. Grace Esser and Miss Beulah Dickerson.

Loans For The Food Producers

The Farm Security program to include small farmers and part time farmers in the Food for Freedom production goals of the nation is now well underway, according to Oscar H. DeWolf, FSA supervisor for Pettis county.

Food production goals are high and many farmers will need assistance in reaching them. Fifteen loans are already being processed in Pettis county and about forty more are expected, Mr. DeWolf says.

The work of helping small farmers take their place in the Food for Freedom production program has been given to the Farm Security administration in cooperation with other agencies of the United States department of agriculture and the USDA war boards.

Small farms are to play an important role. While most large farms are nearing a peak in production, the smaller farms have not approached the maximum production possible through the best use of manpower and land resources. They can produce a much larger share of war foods—dairy, poultry, pork and garden produce.

Almost any man on a farm ranging in size from small to family sized who can increase his production with the aid of additional capital and who cannot secure credit elsewhere is eligible for a production loan from FSA.

Food for Freedom loans may be made for food, seed, fertilizer, equipment, or the purchase or rental of power. Loans will be made for one to five years at five per cent interest.

Farmers who obtain loans from the Farm Security Administration for Food for Freedom production may obtain assistance in planning and in solving production problems.

Major Explain The Status Of Farm Youths

Rural Planning Group Meets With The Draft Board

Seeking information, that its members might be informed on the government's attitude towards farm youths, with reference to their call to service, the County Rural Planning committee appointed a sub-committee to meet with the Pettis County Selective Service board, and have the situation explained.

The Selective Service board, wanting the explanation to be as clear and definite as possible, invited Major Ernest A. Carlson, Jefferson City, state adviser on occupational deferment, to attend the session.

Talk Farm Problems

Major Carlson accepted the invitation, came to Sedalia Satuday, and met with members of the Selective Sevice board, J. B. Greer, C. R. Bothwell and Lon E. Leslie; the planning sub-committee, members, Roy Taylor, chairman, Frank B. Van Dyke, E. H. Boltz and Raymond Neitzert and four others interested in the farm problems, Bruce Claycomb, George R. Wilkerson, Tom Raines and J. U. Morris.

The men sat across the table and talked over the many problems that confront both the farmer and the draft boards, and Major Carlson told them each case must be handled individually. They brought up several cases that might be typical of any community, and the major explained the action taken by local boards, also the state's ruling on such cases.

It is the purpose of all to work together, towards winning the war, and the meeting Saturday cleared up many things that were not clear to the farm group, and they received the information which will enable them to more clearly make plans for the future programs.

Schools To Issue Ration Books

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 13—(AP)—Public schools will issue sugar rationing books under the direction of the state rationing board, according to preliminary instructions received today by Gov. Forrest C. Donnell.

Elementary school systems will be used to register civilian and issue individual ration books. High schools will register retailers and wholesalers.

After the schools have completed the registration, "The operation of this rationing program will be the responsibility of the local rationing boards," the instructions said.

The new ration books will be issued on an individual rather than a family basis, but one member of the family may do the sugar buying for the entire group.

Our Congressman Says . . .

Pensions for Congressmen and and other elective and appointive federal officials remains a lively subject. The bill (H. R. 3487, now Public Law 411) passed the house December 1, 1941, at which time I was (with consent of the house) at the bedside of a brother who was then critically ill in a hospital at Springfield, Missouri.

The bill passed the United States senate January 18th and was approved by the president January 24th. The record shows that this bill was called from the Consent Calendar, where it should not have been placed, and passed the house without roll call as most bills do when once called from the Consent Calendar. The senate record shows considerable debate in that body and a roll call on the bill as follows: Yeas, 42; Nays 24; not voting 30. Of those voting for the bill there were: Democrats 34; Republicans 7; Progressives 1. Nineteen bills have been introduced for repeal of this law and have been referred to the committee on civil service. Mr. Ramspeck of Georgia, author of the pension bill, is chairman of this committee and has so far refused a hearing on any of the repeal measures. Under the rules of the house, if the committee does not act within thirty days, a petition may be circulated asking to take the bill away from the committee and bring it before the house for consideration. We expect to make a determined effort to get enough signers on this petition to bring one of the repeal measures to the floor for a record vote. An effort has been made to discourage us by backers of the pension bill who claimed that the president would veto a law repealing the pension act. While the president, because of his long service and high salary, would receive several times as much pension as any congressman or senator, I have faith enough in him to believe that he would approve a repeal measure. Anyway, I shall continue to work for repeal of the law.

Whether members of congress should be included among the million and one-half government employes already entitled to retirement pay is not a new question. It has been before the house on numerous occasions for a number of years. In 1939, the senate passed such a bill. On July 14, 1939, as shown by the congressional Record, this same proposition was thoroughly debated in the house and was defeated by the vote of 119 to 73. To be eligible for pensions under the law recently passed one must have had at least five years of service which means I would have to be elected to congress twice more in order to qualify and would have to pay into the retirement fund, $3,000 for a pension of $71.25 per month beginning at age 70. I wish to thank the editors of our newspapers for their timely and critical editorials which will help us in our fight for repeal of this unwise law.

Non-essential non-war expenditures have at last aroused the people who must pay for them in increased taxes and a higher cost of living for a lowered living standard, forecast in this column a year ago. All are willing to make necessary sacrifices. However, proof that the people are really tired of the non-essential spending is clearly evidenced by a tremendous number of telegrams and letters of approval that came to me from all over the nation as a result of my recent fight against employment of unqualified persons with political pull to fill screwball jobs at high salaries in the office of civilian defense. Apparently, people object to being stripped as well as teased.

Inside Draft Information. Present plans are for an army of at least eight million men by the end of 1943. Every individual must take this fact into consideration because it is going to force drastic adjustments in private lives, and business. What is planned in relation to the draft is this —(1) To register and inventory all men from 18 to 65. (Started last Monday). (2) To classify, examine and call for service all men between 20 and 45. Men above 36 will largely be used in non-combatant work. (3) To seek from congress authority to require men in service to make payments to their dependents and to match those payments with federal funds, thus tapping a big reservoir of men now exempt. (4) To call many men now deferred for physical deficiencies, using where possible. Tip: You need not apply for desk service commission. The army and navy want fighting men. Commission. The army and navy want fighting men. Commissions will go to those who prove their qualifications in the service.

Chambers of Commerce and business men from every county in our district have written to advise that their communities have been damaged by the drain of labor and money to the big defense centers. Allocation of defense contrasts to small industries is one place O. P. M. fell down and W. P. B. isn't doing much better The disrupting influence this has caused in the economic life of the country is great. I am doing all I can to impress responsible authorities of the genuine need for concentration of some of these establishments in our section.

What about farm labor? That is the question being asked of congress by many farmers who look ahead to their responsibility of increased production. On December 4, 1941, General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, sent a memorandum to all state and local draft board members. In this memo he recommended local boards give deferment to agricultural workers. Of course, the local boards have wide discretion in so doing and are governed by (a) importance of the agricultural product grown in the region (b) importance of the particular enterprise, (c) importance of the skill of the individual seeking deferment and (6) the relative farm labor shortage in the area. Many have been denied deferment as agricultural workers who might have obtained it on grounds of dependency.

The blues are being sung by many in Washington who say that because we have scattered our forces and strength all over the world and its seven seas, our armed forces will continue to meet defeat. While admitting some justification for discouragement as things now look, WE WILL WIN!

Kill Women And Children In Air Attack

Twenty-three Die As Bombs Fall On Refugee Camp

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—(AP)—Increasing enemy air activity over General Douglas MacArthur's lines in Bataan and heavy artillery bombardments were reported today by the war department in a communique which said that 23 women and children were killed and 22 others wounded in a bombing attack on Cabcaben on the southeast tip of Bataan peninsula.

The text of the communique, Number 110 of the war, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m. Eastern War Time:

1. Philippine theater:

"Heavy enemy artillery fire from the Cavite shore bombarded our harbor fortifications with increasing intensity during most of the day. Damage to our installations and casualties were no great.

"In Bataan the enemy is bringing up artillery reinforcements and there is increased artillery fire all along the front. Enemy air activity is increasing.

"For several days enemy airplanes have been dropping poorly printed leaflets on refugee camps behind our lines. These pamphlets, in English, Spanish and Tagalog, professed great friendship for the Filipinos and exhorted them to cooperate with the invaders and join the greater Asia co-prosperity sphere.

"Yesterday bombs were substituted for pamphlets. These potent messages of death fell on the refugee camp at the defenseless village of Cabcaben. Eighteen women and five children were killed in this attack, and thirteen women and nine children were wounded.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Forty Rescued From Tanker

Vessel Abandoned Off Atlantic Coast After Explosions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP)—The navy department announced today that the tanker, E. H. Blum "was damaged" off the Atlantic coast, Monday, Feb. 16.

The navy gave no information as to how the damage was inflicted nor its extent.

The brief announcement said:

"The navy announced that the E. H. Blum, a tanker owned by the Atlantic Refinery Company was damaged off the Atlantic coast Monday, February 16, 1942."

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 18—(AP)—The Atlantic Refining Company's 19,400-ton tanker, E. H. Blum was abandoned off the Atlantic coast Monday night by her crew of 40 who expressed divergent opinions when landed at Norfolk by a rescue ship as to whether their vessel had been torpedoed or had struck a minefield.

Two members of the crew suffered minor injuries in escaping in four life boats from the tanker, which was still afloat when they last saw her. Survivors interviewed here by newsmen agreed that the tanker was wrecked by three explosions spaced about 15 minutes apart. None saw a submarine, they said.

The crew was picked up by a rescue vessel within an hour after their four lifeboats were launched.

Tells of Explosion

Ernest Lee Thomas, able seaman, of Jasper, Fla., who was on lookout duty on the forecastle head when the first explosion rocked the tanker, gave this account:

"I saw a light, which I took to be the mastlight of another ship, about 75 yards off the starboard bow. I reported this light to the bridge and about 15 seconds later the captain ordered full speed ahead and hard right. The nthere was an explosion and the bow came up five or six feet! I thought we had rammed a submarine. The tanker listed to port. I believe we were torpedoed.

"The captain (William L. Evans of Philadelphia) gave the order to stand by the lifeboats but not to lower away. Fifteen minutes later there was a second explosion and the skipper gave the order to abandon ship. After the second blast the ship stopped dead. That is why I believe the third explosion, which took place after my lifeboat had left the tanker, must have been from a torpedo because a motionless ship could not run into a mine."

Bulwarks Collapsed

Fireman Irving Blumenburg, who was in the engine room, said mines instead of torpedoes wrecked the tanker because the bulkheads "sort of collapsed" instead of "blowing upward as they would have done if we had been struck by torpedoes."

Boatswain John Johansen of Larvik, Norway, said he believed the ship had struck a mine field "because I saw no explosion flashes."

Not Bothered By Tire Shortage

There is one Sedalia gentleman who is not going to be concerned about the tire shortage. He is "Tom" Buckley, of North Grand avenue, who during all the years that automobiles were so popular, preferred to drive his horse "Cottoh" and to ride in their two seated surrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckley and their two daughters, Miss Sinella and Miss Catherine made many trips to Sedalia, to church, to shop and to visit friends. Always they drove their horse, which stood hitched by the hour, waiting for the family to get started back home.

Some months ago "Cotton" then almost thirty years old, died, and Mr. Buckley has never found just the horse he would like for family driving, but he hopes to find it some time soon. In the meantime the family is using taxi service. "Its cheaper than owning an automobile" said Mr. Buckley, who never had any desire to own his own car, although he has ridden hundreds of miles with friends.

Shaw At West Coast Port For Repairs

Travels Under Own Power With Stub Emergency Bow

HONOLULU, Feb. 18—(AP)—Navy officers disclosed Tuesday the destroyer Shaw which the Japanese claimed they destroyed in the attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7, has arrived safely at a west coast port under her own power.

The navy officers said the Shaw was in drydock at the time of the attack and was hit repeatedly by bombs, one of which exploded her magazines and completely wrecked the vessel's forward section.

After two months of repairs, and equipped with a stub emergency bow, the Shaw proceeded under her own power to the west coast, where she now is being reconditioned.

The Shaw's experience recalled the experience of the first destroyer Shaw, A 1,000 tonner of World War I. The first Shaw was cut in two by the British troopship Acquitania which was being convoyed through the fog-shrouded English channel Oct. 9, 1918.

The first Shaw's captain, William A. Glassford, now vice-admiral and commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, successfully steamed the after section of the destroyer into Portland, England, 50 miles away, where a new bow was provided the Shaw and it continued to serve with the fleet until 1926.

For his exploit, Glassford was awarded the navy cross.

Rescue Of 83 From A Ship Torpedoed

Brazilian Vessel Sunk Off The Virginia Coast

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 18—(AP)—Eighty-three survivors of the Brazilian steamer, Buarque which the navy announced last night was torpedoed and sunk Sunday by an axis submarine off the Virginia coast, were brought ashore here Monday and last night after many hours in lifeboats.

The 5,000-ton passenger-cargo vessel, carrying eleven passengers and a crew of 74, was sent to the bottom by two torpedoes early Sunday morning. Forty-six survivors were landed here Monday and 37 others and one body were brought ashore tonight, leaving one person unaccounted for.

Sighted By Planes

Three women were among the survivors landed Monday. This group of 46 was picked up from two lifeboats late Sunday by a rescue ship after they had been sighted by navy planes earlier that day. Two other rescue vessels brought in the 37 and the body.

Passengers praised highly the courage of five-year-old Frederic Ferreira who came up smili after being seasick, cold and we for 18 hours in a lifeboat.

Safe at Norfolk, Freddie's mother tried to feed him a jellied dessert. Freddie looked at it with distaste and pushed the plat away. "It's shivery," he said. To Freddie, "shivery" meant 18 hour in an open boat; a little stomach that was convulsed with each new wave.

Refuse Interviews

Fifth naval district public relations officers refused to perm newsmen to interview the grou brought ashore tonight, sayin these survivors were too "fagge out." All the survivors who cam in last night left for New York.

Walter F. Shivers, New York who said he was a "trouble-shoot er" for Pan-American Airways related that the Buarque ha "the Brazilian insignia painted o both sides and an illuminate sign pointing to the insignia shoul have been plainly visible at som distance."

Dennis Connor Held Prisoner By Japanese

La Monte Young Man Captured At Wake Island

Indication that Dennis Clifford Connor, with the United States Marines in the defense of Wake Island, taken over in the Japanese invasion of Pacific islands, is a prisoner of the Nipponese is given further credence through a list of Americans believed held, announced by the navy department yesterday.

The young man, twenty-two years old, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Connor, of La Monte, and following capture of the island his parents felt that he had been taken prisoner with others of the Marines putting up a valiant battle against overwhelming odds in an endeavor to hold that strategic point.

In Marines Two Years

Connor, a graduate of the La Monte high school, joined the Marines two years ago. He first spent some time at San Diego, and in the spring of 1941 was sent to Pearl Harbor. He was transferred from there to Wake Island two weeks before the attack on Pearl Harbor, December seventh.

Shortly before he left Pearl Harbor he visited there with Lloyd Curtis, another Pettis county young man, whose home was at Green Ridge. Curtis was in the Marines and lost his life when the ship Arizona was destroyed at Pearl Harbor.

Over 1,000 Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—The navy department released today a list of 1,010 navy and marine corps officers and enlisted men presumed to have been taken prisoner by the Japanese on the islands of Wake and Guam and at Peiping, Tientsin and Shanghai, China.

Lieut. Commander John T. Tuthill, Jr., public relations officer of the Third Naval district, also made public a roster of 1,200 civilians who were employed in defense construction work on the two Pacific islands and who also are presumed to be prisoners of war.

The navy department statement pointed out that "because of the interruption of communications and the eliminating of contact entirely when the various outposts were overwhelmed, the navy department cannot have absolute information of the exact status of all individuals who were serving in the armed forces and of civilians who were engaged on public works undertakings.

However, from information that had been available up to the time or near the time of the capture of some of the groups, and from the rosters of personnel serving at the different places, it is presumed that those not otherwise accounted for are prisoners of the Japanese."

Sermons by Dr. Truett

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Texas, delivered his first sermon of the day at 11 o'clock this morning. His theme was "The Highest Duty and Privilege of the Earthly Life." He emphasized the fact that the highest duty and privilege of man is to carry out God's will and purpose in his individual life. This can be done successfully only when the individual prays the prayer that our Lord taught us to pray, "Thy will be done in the earth as it is in heaven."

Dr. Truett delivered his final address at 2:30 this afternoon. His parting message to Baptist ministers and laymen was embodied in this theme, "The Reward That Follows is the Way of Service."

The gracious spirit of this "Soldier of the Cross" has made an impression on this community and Missouri Baptists that shall long be remembered.

"You are not authorized to accept applications or issue certificates for retreaded, or recapped tires, or for retreading or recapping services until February 23. From February 19th to February 23rd there will be no delivery of retreaded or recapped tires," states James A. "You may continue to issue certificates for new tires during this period (February 19th to 23rd) under the same procedure as you have been following.

"Please notify all dealers that from February 19th to March 1st no camelback of any kind may be used for retreading or recapping passenger type tires.

Tires For Ministers

"Ministers will be eligible for new tires under certain conditions which are set out in Section 405 (b).

"You must hereafter issue certificates for new passenger tires of an obsolete type only to applicants who establish that the vehicle to be equipped is a passenger automobile falling within the eligible classes of either list A or list B (Section 503).

However, such obsolete tires are not charged against your quota.

"(A) No certificates are to be issued to provide tires for new vehicles of any type, including farm implements and tractors, which have been converted from steel rims requiring tires.

"(B) Applications by all prospective purchasers, including vehicle manufacturers, dealers and consumers, for permission to purchase new tires and tubes to be used as part of the original equipment of new vehicles must be made to the Director of Industry Operations, Washington, D. C.

"(C) Applications for permission to mount new tires or tubes owned or possessed by the applicant on new vehicles owned or controlled by him shall be made to the Director of Industry Operations, Washington, D. C.

(This ruling does not prohibit the issuance of certificates for spare tires and tubes for new vehicles in cases where the local board finds a spare necessary. Nor does it forbid issuance of certificate for replacement of a tire unserviceable by reason of size or construction.)"

Churchill Looks To U. S. For Victory

Asserts Allies Are Capable Of Squaring Accounts

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Winston Churchill, standing before his people at one of the blackest hours of their history, has assured them that the United Nations "will be found fully capable of squaring all accounts" and the question before Britain today is how strong remains her faith in her leadership.

Although he bore a message of disaster, the prime minister declared that ultimately the overwhelming fact of the war would be that "the power of the United States and its vast resources . . . are in it with us."

Points Out Dangers Ahead

It fell to the prime minister yesterday to broadcast to the empire the most dismal news for its people since Dunkerque:

"Singapore has fallen. All the Malay peninsula has been overrun."

That bare statement was all that Britain was told of the loss of her great fortress and the fate of its valiant defenders except for Japan's announcement that Singapore had surrendered unconditionally.

But Churchill frankly acknowledged it to be a "heavy and far-reaching defeat" and, though he was pleading for confidence, he told Britain in unvarnished words:

"Other dangers gather about us out there and none of the dangers which we have hitherto faced successfully at home and in the east are in any way diminished."

"Loss of the island citadel, guardian of the gateway to the Indian ocean and a rampart for the defense of the Dutch East Indies and Australia, came after a week of dismaying news for Britain, news which had loosed a cry of doubt in the empire's leadership.

The prime minister did not mention the feat of a German naval squadron in slipping home through the English Channel in defiance of Britain's home defenders; he did not mention Japan's growing threat to Burma; he touched but briefly on the dark picture in Libya.

With the exception of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, all London newspapers which took a stand expressed misgivings and hinted at a rising clamor for change which may reach as far as Downing Street.

Are "Hard Pressed"

Churchill acknowledged candidly that Japan, by plunging into the war, had put "another heavy and terrible side to the account" he was rendering the empire . . .

"Tonight the Japanese are triumphant," he said gravely. "They shout their exultation around the world. We suffer. We are taken aback. We are hard-pressed.

"But I am sure, even in this dark hour, that criminal madness will be the verdict which history will pronounce upon the authors of the Japanese aggression. . .

"We must not underrate the power and malice of our latest foe. But neither must be undervalue the gigantic, overwhelming forces which now stand in line with us in this world struggle for freedom, and which, once they have developed their full natural inherent power, whatever has happened in the meanwhile, will be found fully capable of squaring all accounts and setting all things right, for a long time to come."

Misdemeanor To Block Crossings

An ordinance, making it an offense, a misdemeanor, for a railroad to block a public crossing, with its cars, for more than five minutes, was unanimously passed by the city council, in its regular meeting last night. All councilmen were present with the exception of Elmer Sumners, second ward alderman.

Emmet Sullivan, chairman of the building committee, asked for the opinion of the other councilmen, on the matter of redecorating, papering and painting the present city hall. Under present conditions, he said, it is impossible to build a new city hall, for which bonds were voted, and if they are to remain in the old building, it was his opinion it should be made more sightly. The entire council approved.

Savings Of Seven Years Stolen

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Lee Yuen's philosophy: money can be made again but if you lose your life—that's bad.

Today he returned to his laundry from a Chinese New Year's celebration and discovered his seven years savings, $8,000 and two $1,000 checks, were gone from his safe.

"I do not discourage," said 24-year-old Yuen, "money can be made again, but do you lose your life, never can you do anything about that."

Then he and his cousin, Lee Chong, 26, began a furious splashing of the Monday wash, chattering Chinese and pointing occasionally to a rear window where a thief had sawed a metal bar to gain entrance last night.

Three weeks ago, Yuen and Chong, his employe, took their funds from a bank deposit box to the laundry. Yuen explained that he was afraid the government might freeze his savings.

"Last week I understand clear that the United States do not intend to freeze my savings," he said, "so I make plans to take the money back to my deposit box. But business was big and I am short a helper, so I am so occupied I do not get to the bank. Now it is not here to be returned."

There were 1,739 men, between the ages of 20 and 45, who registered in Pettis county in the third Selective Service registration for military service. That number was about 1,000 less than had been anticipated by the state office, whose estimation for Pettis county was between 2,500 and 2,700.

In addition to the 1,739 registered here, thirty-nine cards have been sent to this board, Pettis countians who registered in other counties, but designated this as their home.

Two persons were registered in their homes. One was Frank Otto Hill, 40, who stated that he is under contract to remain on the grounds of the former CCC camp, in southeast Sedalia, twenty-four hours a day. He was registered by Lon E. Leslie, a member of the draft board, who went to the camp and registered him.

The other was Irvin M. Schlomer, of Longwood, an invalid, who was registered at his own home by his mother, Mrs. Herbert W. Schlomer.

Registered By Proxy

There were a number of men in the draft age who are invalids, some mentally ill, and in such cases the local board had instructions that other members of their families could come to the court house and register for them. This was done in several instances.

Conducted Quietly

The entire registration in this county was conducted quietl and in a dignified manner. Fr ten to fifteen persons were the registration desks during hours that had been set aside registration and when they h to form a line Lon E. L county judge and a memb the draft board, and other house attaches helped out.

The women of the Am Legion auxiliary had cha the registration, and condu very ably.

Of great assistance too, er members of the American Legion, who had representatives on duty for the entire time. These men, wearing Legion caps, ushered, gave information, and were largely responsible for the methodical manner in which the registration was conducted.

Two Arrested In Tire Theft

First Reported Since Rationing Went Into Effect

The first tire theft charge filed in this county, since the rationing of automobile tires, will be filed against Roosevelt Carpenter, 705 West Jefferson, and Quincy Wright, 412 North Mill, Negroes who were arrested Monday evening by Sheriff C. R. Bothwell and his deputy, Archie Smith, and are held in the county jail.

The men are charged by the officers, with taking a truck tire and wheel from the Thompson-McGrath farm, on west highway 50, last Friday night.

The tire and wheel were recovered by the officers, hidden under a kitchen cabinet at the home of Gertrude Jones, Negro woman, who lives at 300 East Cooper. According to the officers they had been informed the tire was there. Going to the home they stated they were told by Mrs. Jones that she knew nothing of any tire, but when they insisted on going in, and found the wheel protruding from under the cabinet, she told them she had been away from home when it was brought there and her son had permitted it to be left.

Officers state the Negroes admitted taking the tire. They said Carpenter and Wright drove out to the country in a 1934 dark gray Oldsmobile sedan, Carpenter at the wheel. He let Wright out at the Thompson-McGrath farm, according to the officers' story and drove on to Gasoline Alley where he had a sandwich and a bottle of soda pop. Returning he picked up Wright and the tire.

The officers had received a report from a filling station where an attempt had been made to sell the tire.

Suggest Farmers Meet 'Food For Freedom' Quotas

Twenty-five years of cooperative credit for farm owners was celebrated by sixty members and guests of the Sedalia and Pettis county National Farm Loan Associations yesterday at the annual meeting which was held at the assembly room in the courthouse.

W. F. Feutz, representing the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, briefly summarized progress of the quarter century in which the cooperative Federal Land bank has extended farm ownership credit through local national farm loan associations. Comparing past experiences of the bank's operation with the war time situation of today, Feutz asserted: "Many farmers have suffered as a result of speculation or over-purchasing during the land boom of 25 years ago. Today it is hoped that those farmers and others will recall that experience and anchor their security by paying debts and establishing reserves for the lean economic years that may follow our present good prices."

Bruce Claycomb, chairman of the Pettis County USDA Defense Board, suggested that farmers meet their food for freedom quotas and thereby help materially in America's defense program. "By using discretion and forethought," he said, "this time we'll not lose our farms and homes while doing it."

George Harrison, secretary-treasurer of the Jefferson City PCA; J. U. Morris, agricultural extension agent; and Miss Virginia Lee Slusher, home management supervisor, FSA, were also on the program and gave short talks on the part the farmer is to play in this war.

The associations agreed to elect a common board of directors and the following were elected: T. J. Raines of Nelson, W. T. Bishop of Sedalia, William C. Monsees of Sedalia, F. C. Perkins of Beaman, and Guy W. Mahin of La-Monte.
